Plane Crashes, But 16 Live

Death took a holiday when this giant Eastern Air Lines plane crashed, right side up, in a pond near Vero Beach, Fla., during a terrific squall yesterday. Thirteen passengers and three members of the crew escaped with their lives, although several suffered broken bones. After a long search the fallen craft was found... and rescue squads reached the injured passengers only after a perilous trip through dense swamplands. This photo, taken from a plane that had engaged in the search, was telephoned to Boston today.

F.D. PINS SABOTAGE ON AIDE OF DUCE

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—President Roosevelt pinned responsibility for widespread sabotage directly on the Italian naval attache today, and Secretary Hull curtly rejected Axis protests against American seizure of 30 German and Italian ships.

Yugoslav Bridges Blown Up to Balk Advance of Hitler

International News Service Staff Correspondent
BUDAPEST, April 4—Yugoslavian troops today were reported blasting bridges across the Morava and Danube rivers to impede a possible German onslaught.

The Yugoslavian legation at Bucharest has instructed Yugoslavians to leave Rumania at once.

"An International News Service dispatch from Belgrade reported that Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary, and other members of the Hungarian government had fled Budapest for refuge in Yugoslavia. The report also said that German motorized troops were moving swiftly toward the Yugoslav frontier. — Editor's note.

Main forces of the Yugoslavian army were said to be concentrated around Nis in South Serbia. Destruction of bridges indicated that the Yugoslavians intended to make their major stand along the Morava river, on which Nis is located. This means that a wide stretch west of the Rumanian and Hungarian borders might be yielded to the Germans.

Hungary meagrely mourned the death of Count Pal Teleki, while a new government under Premier Laszlo De Bardossy prepared to take oath of office.

In Yugoslavia, according to information here, all military classes up to the age of 48 have been called to the colors.

All German nationals up to the age of 39 also have been called and sent to labor camps in South Serbia, it was said.

Count Teleki's funeral has been set for Monday.

Strong indignation was caused among the Hungarian populace by the fact that the Hungarian Nazi party's headquarters was the only building in Budapest which did not fly its flag at half-staff.

The Hungarian war ministry today ordered the civilian population to buy all materials necessary for an eventual blackout in Hungary.

A communique announced that Belgrade and the populous northern centers of Zagreb and Ljubljana would be proclaimed "open and undefended cities" in the event of war.

Belgrade, the national capital, scarcely 50 miles from the Ru-

Pope to Broadcast Blessing to World Easter Sunday

ROME, April 4 (INS)—Pope Pius XII will broadcast a blessing to the world by radio at 1 p. m. Easter Sunday (6 a. m. Boston time) the Vatican announced today.

The Pontiff will speak from his private library in the Vatican. It will mark the first time that he will have given a world-wide blessing by radio.

Before delivering the blessing, it was believed, the Pope may deliver a brief address. It will be broadcast on wave lengths 31.06 and 19.84.

Informed sources expressed belief the Holy Father may issue another plea for peace.

BLACKOUT NEWS TO TOBIN

Reports that a blackout of Boston is to be tried in the near future came as a surprise today to Mayor Tobin.

He said no request or proposal for such action has been made to him and commented, "We will cross that bridge when we come to it."

It seems to have been proven, Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference, that a great deal of sabotage of Italian merchantmen was on order of Admiral Alberto Lais. Lais' immediate recall was demanded yesterday.

Asked to comment on this demand, the President said the newspapers had all the facts. He then added that the sabotage was of course illegal and only one course was open.

HULL FLAYS NAZI STAND

In rejecting the protests, Hull dismissed Germany's conception of treaty obligations in the seizure as "unthinkable" for "any civilized nation."

The State Department chief, in notes to the German and Italian embassies, also declined an Italian request for information as to what was to become of the ships and their crews—in all, 875 men and 30 vessels.

He merely told the embassy that authorities were considering this and that action would be determined in the light of the law and the pertinent facts.

The ships were taken into custody under an anti-sabotage law and Germany had protested that this violated both international law and a German-American treaty.

POINTS TO TREATY

Hull retorted that international law did not permit "acts of destruction in disregard of local law" and that there was nothing in the treaty "which lends even color of support" to the German thesis.

"It would indeed be unthinkable," he said, "that any civilized nation would become a party to a treaty containing any such provision or that it would subscribe to any so-called principle of international law which would

YUGOSLAV FRONT—War clouds continue to lower over Yugoslavia as (1) Belgrade is declared an open city and undergoes a complete blackout, (2) Germany is reported massing air force on frontier, (3) Budapest is scene of Premier Teleki's suicide, which is said to have been caused by Axis demands that Hungary go under Nazi control and aid in Yugoslav attack, and (4) Greece is said now to have received 350,000 British troops as German newspapers continued Yugoslav attack.

CIO GIVEN SUBPOENAS FOR HENRY, EDESEL FORD

DETROIT, April 4 (AP)—Attorneys for striking CIO unionists who have closed the Ford Motor Co.'s Rouge plant obtained subpoenas for Henry and Edsel Ford this morning in a move to combat a federal restraining order obtained by the company.

The court order forbade members of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) and of the CIO from interfering with Ford employees entering or leaving the plant.

Ernest Goodman, attorney who obtained subpoenas for the founder and president of the company and also for Harry H. Bennett, Ford personnel director, said that "we intend to show the affiliation between the Ford Company and Fascist governments."

Bennett said today the Rouge factory, largest industrial unit in the world, would remain closed "until this labor problem has been entirely solved."

U. S. MARSHAL TO ACT

Goodman obtained his subpoenas after United States District Judge Arthur J. Tuttle, who issued the restraining order last night, refused to accept an oral motion for dismissal of it. The attorney said filing of a written motion would depend on "when we can get service of the subpoenas."

The summonses were delivered to a United States marshal for service. Buell Doelle, an attorney for the Ford Co., told Judge Tuttle that no attempt will be made to impede services. He added that "I don't know where Mr. Henry Ford and Mr. Edsel Ford are, and naturally I couldn't promise to produce them."

Judge Tuttle told Goodman that "every time a lawyer starts a case in justice court he wants those men (the Ford and Bennett) brought in," but added that if Goodman filed a motion, "I'll give you a prompt hearing, whether it's Saturday or Sunday or any time."

U. S. SPEEDS PROBE OF AIR CRASH

VERO BEACH, Fla., April 4 (AP)—Spared through a terrifying sky storm and a swamp crackup, 16 men and women rested today while officials sought to learn just how and why an Eastern Air Lines plane plopped down in a marshland yesterday.

Congress and the Civil Aeronautics Board moved swiftly to capitalize on this rare opportunity to learn of trouble in the air, presumably much like that which in the past has smashed planes to the ground, leaving none to report.

Pilot Gerald O'Brien guided the 21-passenger Douglas plane to a right-side-up landing in a pond yesterday and the 13 passengers and crew of three huddled in waist-deep water until long after dark when rescuers finally reached the scene.

His chest crushed and a leg injured, perhaps broken, O'Brien of Miami, insisted upon remaining with his ship until everyone else was ferried out of the marsh and given medical care.

One passenger, A. G. McIntyre of West Palm Beach, an E.A.L. employee, stayed with him.

Dr. G. Crile "We got caught in a terrific storm," O'Brien said. "I fought it for some time. I kept trying to get out of it."

"Then we dropped 2500 feet before I could catch it. Then I looked for a likely place to put her down."

First brought to safety were Dr. George W. Crile, eminent Cleveland physician, and his wife. Dr. Crile had a broken rib and was bruised. His wife was cheerful despite the shock and a bruised eye.

Dr. Daniel P. Quiring, Crile's aide at the Cleveland clinic earned praise for giving first-aid treatment.

Mrs. James M. Cox, Jr., of Miami Beach, daughter-in-law of newspaper publisher James M. Cox, former Democratic presidential nominee, escaped without injury.

More seriously injured were Harry E. Post of Miami Springs, whose broken leg stayed under water during the long hours; Co-pilot B. M. Crabtree of Miami, with a broken leg and lacerations about the head, and Stewart Albert Martin of Miami, who was badly cut.

Those with minor injuries were E. W. Hagstater, chief engineer of Axel Wenner Gren's yacht Southern Cross; Mrs. Margaret Allen of Miami Beach, George Shaw of Memphis, Bertram Strock, address unknown; Mrs. Margaret Graham of New York; E. V. Caulfield of Norfolk, Va., and Mrs. Allmone Green of Raleigh, N. C.

MRS. GEORGE CRILE

'Other Woman' Tells Of Joss Love Notes

BATH, Me., April 4 (AP)—A pretty Richmond restaurant proprietor testified today that she received a "love note" from Dr. Merrill E. Joss, 31, accused of slaying his doctor-wife, Luverne Harris Joss, 38, "about supper time the night of the murder."

STORK WILL VISIT AGAIN

SECOND EXPECTED—From Hollywood comes word that Mrs. Fred Snite, Jr., wife of iron-lung hero, is expecting the birth of a second child. Mrs. Snite, the former Theresa Larkin, is pictured with her first child, Teresa Marie, born in September, 1940.

W. ROXBURY DOCTOR HURT IN PLANE CRASH

A West Roxbury physician and his companion were critically injured today when their plane plunged into some trees from a 100-foot altitude shortly after taking off from Norwood airport on the Norwood-Canton line.

The plane landed upside down between two trees.

Taken to Norwood Hospital, the injured men are:

DR. ROBERT M. HOLLAND of Center st., West Roxbury, pilot of the craft; cuts of head and arm, and possible fractured leg.

ERNEST SPELLHOLZ of Manthorne rd., West Roxbury, brain concussion, cuts of face and body and possible internal injuries.

EYEWITNESS TELLS STORY The airport's chief pilot, Henry Kent, gave this account of the crash:

"On the takeoff, he apparently gained altitude too fast. He got caught in a down draught, and then he tried to race the motor and pull out. The ship was about 1000 feet in the air and had a mile from the edge of the field."

"The plane suddenly turned and one of the wings struck a tree."

The airport field crew of about 12 men ran to the scene at the crash, while another summoned the Norwood fire department.

Holland was removed from the wreckage, but it took firemen and airport workers some minutes to extricate Stallholtz, who was imprisoned by the twisted metal.

Mrs. Elizabeth Chapman Mayo, 32, a state witness at the physician's municipal court hearing, said that the note was to tell her to "keep your chin up and I'll make it up to you later."

It opened with the word "Dearest" and closed "I love you," said the smart appearing Mrs. Mayo, who told of having visited cocktail lounges in Portland, Brunswick and Augusta with Dr. Joss.

Mrs. Mayo said she received "four or five" such notes from the doctor between March 5 and the night his wife was found savagely beaten and dying in the Joss brick colonial home in Richmond.

NO THREAT AGAINST WIFE

But, in their brief acquaintance, Mrs. Mayo told defense counsel in cross-examination, she "never heard" Dr. Joss indicate "the faintest idea" that he intended to harm his wife.

Judge Gardiner Deering found probable cause for holding Dr. Joss for the June term of Superior Court on a charge of wife-murder.

Mrs. Mayo, wearing a dark dress and a blue hat with a feather in it, exchanged a smile with Dr. Joss when County Atty. Ralph O. Dale asked her if she ever had received any gifts from the doctor. She replied, "A flashlight and his fraternity pin."

She and Joss, she testified, had discussed divorce with their respective spouses.

"He told me," she said, "that he had talked over a divorce with his wife and she was agreeable. We decided that I should ask my husband for a divorce. I did that the day before the murder."

Mrs. Mayo did not say what her husband's answer had been, and he was not identified in the testimony. The proprietor of Richmond's

BELL RINGER—Little Johnny Crowley of Roxbury who's 7 and a patient at a convalescent home was homesick early today so he set out to find his mother. Hyde Park police picked up Johnny when several persons complained that someone was ringing their doorbells. Shy at first, Johnny explained that he was lost. Still clad in pajamas, he's being brought back by Officer Stephan Vernofsky of Station 18.

SOUTH BOSTON FATHER RESCUES SIX IN BLAZE

Braving dense smoke and flames which were creeping through the apartment, Francis A. Shean, 33, of I st., South Boston, rescued his wife, Mary, 28, today and four small children, then dashed to the third floor of the tenement and carried the occupants, Mrs. Margaret Harrington, 60, to safety.

Shean, a government worker on the Federal Writers' Project at Commonwealth Pier, was badly singed by racing through the flames. He also suffered a cut hand when he broke a window to enter the Harrington apartment.

Mrs. Shean opened a closet in the rear of their ground floor home and released a burst of smoke and flame. She screamed to her husband to get three months' old Sarah Elizabeth, who was having her bath.

Shean took the baby and 19-months-old Mary outside, then ran to the rear room, where Mrs. Shean was cut off from escape. He led her through the smoke with Virginia, 8 years old. Mrs. Shean climbed through a first-floor window and Shean passed out Richard, 4, before crawling out himself.

Shean then raced upstairs, but could not arouse Mrs. Harrington. He finally broke a window and entered. He was carrying the woman downstairs when firemen arrived.

MOTORISTS FIND MAN HANGING FROM POLE IN EAST CAMBRIDGE

A man's body, swinging by a rope from a telephone pole, was discovered in East Cambridge today by two Somerville couples on their way home from a ride to Boston.

Anthony Colaullo of Cross st., Somerville, driver of the car, went to East Cambridge police station on Third st., only a short distance from the scene, to report the gruesome discovery.

Patrolmen Gerald Gallagher and Myer Grady cut the victim down and rushed him to Cambridge City Hospital, but he was pronounced dead on arrival. He was identified later as John Marshall, 45, of Third st., whose home was almost opposite the pole where his body was found.

Police said Marshall had been ill more than two years and had been reported in a despondent state.

2 Die in Car Crashes; Devens Soldiers Dying

A Worcester taxicab driver was instantly killed today and two Ft. Devens soldiers are dying, following a grade crossing crash in Shirley, while a motorist was crushed to death in a Billerica collision and his companion critically injured.

The Shirley accident occurred at the Mitchellville crossing when a Boston & Maine freight train collided with the taxicab. The second crash took place in Billerica center, where the victim's auto hit a parked car, then rammed a tree, overturned and burst into flames.

George Inangelo, 21, of Camden ave., Worcester, operator of the taxi carrying the soldiers, met instant death.

Privates Henry Sodo, 23, and John M. Richards, 20, Regular Army men attached to Co. M, 16th Infantry, are both reported dying at the Ft. Devens base hospital.

According to police and railroad officials, a west-bound freight passed the crossing a few seconds before the crash happened. As the last cars of the west-bound train crossed the highway, a Boston-bound freight from Mechanicville, N. Y., came from the opposite direction.

Investigators said the taxicab apparently drove directly in the path of the second train.

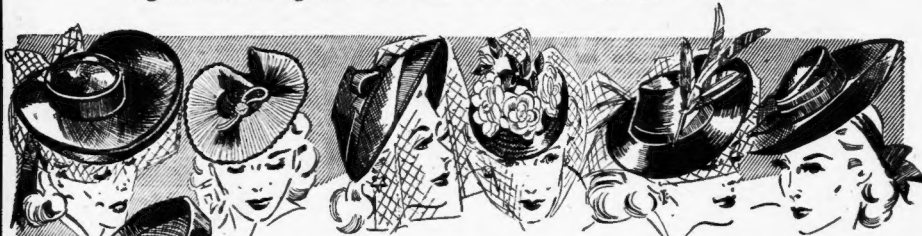

In Billerica, Ralph T. Luscomb, 23, of that town was found dead in the wreckage of an auto which police said had first struck a parked machine.

Invalid, 83, Rescued in Roxbury Fire

An 83-year-old bed-ridden woman was saved from death in a fire today by the chance presence of her daughter and two grandchildren who dragged her to safety after an oil burner explosion set her third-floor apartment afire at 2457b Washington st. Roxbury.

Mrs. Annie Cahill was carried into a hallway of the otherwise unoccupied building by her daughter, Mrs. Mary Flanagan, and the latter's two children, Elizabeth, 16, and Ann, 10.

She was too heavy for them to carry, so Elizabeth raced down three flights to the street to turn in the alarm.

Firemen Joseph L. Anderson and John Carey carried the elderly woman to the street.

The Flanagans had been visiting her and were in an adjoining room when the explosion occurred.

Except for shock, Mrs. Cahill was otherwise unharmed. Her two grand-daughters suffered singed hair.

Fire was confined to the apartment, and damage was estimated at about $250.

Heavy-footed Boston motorists, watch out!

The "men on the bikes" will be back on the road in force Monday.

The Boston Police Department announced today its 27 motorcycles, which have been in storage for the winter, are now being overhauled, and their operators undergoing rigid tests in preparation for active duty.

One of the bike men is already in service to see that motorists aren't too excited by the sweet spring air. He is Officer Leo B. Barney, on duty since last Monday on Dorchester ave., near South Station. (You're welcome to the tip.)

Hub Thief Suspect Called Army Deserter

One of two brothers arrested on a charge of breaking and entering and larceny turned out today in Roxbury court to be an alleged deserter from Camp Edwards. He was Albert McChesney, 20, of Dorchester, who with his brother William, 18, was arrested yesterday.

A Camp Edwards officer told Judge Frankland W. L. Miles that Albert is wanted by the Army for desertion. Judge Miles said civil charges against Albert must be disposed of first and ordered both brothers held in $2500.

HALF-BILLION FOR 212 SHIPS, 50 SHIPWAYS

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—President Roosevelt announced today he had allocated another $500,000,000 from the $7,000,000,000 lend-lease act for 212 new merchant ships and about 50 or 60 new shipways.

He told a press conference he also had authorized expenditure of another $500,000,000 for existing military equipment to be turned over to nations resisting aggression.

At the same time the President disclosed that if no fighting is taking place in the Red sea the United States government might remove that area from listing as a combat zone and permit American vessels to carry cargoes there.

Reports already printed to that effect, he said, were a little premature. But he added such a step might be taken in two or three days.

Previously Mr. Roosevelt had announced allocation of $1,000,000,000 of the $7,000,000,000 aid appropriation for nations resisting aggression.

In addition the President said he was considering allocating another $1,500,000,000 to $2,000,000,000 for lend-lease aid.

With the previously announced authorization of the expenditure of $1,000,000,000 for all kinds of war equipment to be sent abroad, the $500,000,000 allocated to acquire existing equipment for transfer boosted the total already authorized to be spent to $1,500,000,000.

The new allocations for new equipment, now under study, embraced Army, Navy and agricultural items, the President said.

The President said he had also allocated an indefinite amount for repair in American ports of damaged merchant ships. He added, however, that none of this was for repair of Axis vessels taken over last week-end or for any British warships. He said no Allied war vessels had put in United States ports for repair.

The President said all the shipways for the new vessels to be built would be on seaboard ports.

Chamber Pushes Defense Survey

Many small industries in Massachusetts have idle surplus equipment that could be utilized for subcontract work on national defense contracts. It was stated today by Frederick W. Bliss, regional coordinator of the Massachusetts Industrial Committee for National Defense, in this area.

Bliss, chairman of the Boston Chamber of Commerce committee on industrial relations, announced he is sending questionnaires to industrial plants in Boston, Newton and Brookline to afford manufacturers an opportunity to record facilities available for additional defense work.

Co-ordinator Bliss expects the result of the survey will be of great benefit to the defense program and will result in profitable business for the industrial plants participating as well as New England.

To have a neat, tidy and young waistline, this measurement must be at least eight inches smaller than the bust. If you are willing to stretch, twist and bend, you can speedily whittle your waist down to specifications.

POSITION: Stand erect, feet

POSITION: Stand erect, feet

MOVEMENT: Slowly bend acutely to the side. Do not hunch the shoulders or move the hips. Center the pull through the mid-section. Back to position and bend to the other side. Six times for a starter, later work up to 25 times.

POSITION: Stand with the back of the hips against a heavy table or desk, hands clasped on top of head.

POSITION: Knees bent, sit down on the floor with legs wide apart, arms clasped behind head.

MOVEMENT: Pull slim thru the middle, then bend slowly sideways back to position and bend to opposite side. That's a real workout.

MOVEMENT: Pull slim through the middle, bend forward, circle to the side, back, other side and up. Then circle in the opposite direction. Perform 12 counts, later 25. To slim the entire midriff, finish with this exercise:

MOVEMENT: Come up to a sitting position, arms stretched high overhead. Three times is plenty for a starter, later 12 counts.

ROME, April 4 (AP)—Stefani, official Italian news agency, charged today that the United States and Britain through "in-

"Torrents of gold have been poured into the Balkans," the news agency said. "The Balkans have been deeply upset by internal intrigue without precedent in history for the brutality with which it is conducted."

"London and Washington openly are seeking cannon fodder . . . to save the precious British blood and find soldiers to whom to give guns and munitions made in the United States without Roosevelt being obliged to have American citizens cross the ocean."

Stefani charged a Boston short wave broadcast with "a plan of invitation to aggression" in what the news agency said was the statement that the Nazi war-machine was not ready to attack Yugoslavia and that therefore the time was ripe for the Greeks, Yugoslavs and Turks, aided by Britain, to attack Germany.

"The provocative language of the Boston radio throws light on the really sinister activity which the ministers of England, the United States and Turkey are following these days at Belgrade and Athens," it added.

RAF AGAIN BOMBS 2 NAZI BATTLESHIPS

LONDON, April 4 (INS)—British bombers made another attempt to wreck the 35,000-ton German battleships Scharnhorst and Gneissennau during the night, the air ministry revealed today.

An official communique said RAF planes once more pounded the German-occupied French port of Erest, where the two vessels which have been preying on British shipping in the Atlantic now are docked. They also attacked oil tanks at Ostend and Rotterdam. Four British planes are reported missing.

AIRDROME ATTACKED

It was disclosed a British night fighter attacked a German airdrome in northern France while German bombers were landing there after raiding a western English town and other parts of Britain.

The British plane bombed hangars and then dived and machine-gunned the airport's landing lights and German planes on the ground. It also attacked a German bomber which was just about to land and the British pilot reported seeing this plane crash.

TWO LONDON ALARMS

This intrepid "Lone Wolf" attack followed a renewal of German night assaults, during which Nazi raiders hammered an unidentified western England town for four hours.

Later in the day the city was identified as Bristol. The Germans loosed thousands of fire, oil and high explosive bombs, but the attack, which fell far short in both intensity and destructiveness of other recent assaults on Bristol, caused substantial damage to dwellings.

Two air raid alarms sounded in London but no incidents were reported.

King's Beard Goes on Sale

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—"The Beard of His Majesty, George III"—so the label said—went on sale here.

The wisp of reddish-gray hair, tied with a tiny red and blue bow, was offered at a benefit-sale for the British Royal Air Force in a section presided over by Mrs. Carter Glass, wife of the senator from Virginia, and Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of a former governor of Pennsylvania.

Just how much of a price tag to pin on the whiskers of the crusty chap who didn't think the colonists were contributing enough to the royal treasury back in 1776 was puzzling to the society women selling several thousand donations ranging from a baby carriage to cakes.

ANTI-BRITISH REVOLUTION UPSETS IRAQ

ROME, April 4 (AP)—The newspaper Il Messaggero said a dispatch from Baghdad via Beirut today reported that military elements and Nationalist extremists had overthrown the Iraqi government of Seyid Taha Al-Hashimi and that a new government had not yet been formed.

The report said, "The government has a clearly anti-British character."

Il Messaggero reported that Regent Emir Abdul Ilah had sought refuge, the Basra Chamber of Deputies had been dissolved and that the Nationalists had demonstrated against the newly-appointed British ambassador, Sir Kinahan Cornwallis.

An authoritative source in London said today it was understood the government of Al-Hashimi had been overthrown and that the British government was awaiting clarification of the situation.—Editor's Note.

RAF Blasts Nazis in Libya

NORTH AFRICAN WAR—German and Italian motorized divisions (arrow) make sweeping attack against Britain's Army of the Nile, forced evacuation of Benghazi, London admits. British troops had held the town since Feb. 6.

CAIRO Egypt, April 4 (AP)—The RAF has struck back fiercely at German and Italian forces moving up the Mediterranean coast in Libya, Italian north Africa, the Middle East headquarters said today.

The Axis' mechanized force, estimated at two divisions or about 20,000 men, had driven the British back 180 miles from the most advanced point of the British invasion of Libya, when the RAF struck.

"Bomber aircraft of the RAF made a heavy attack on enemy motor transport convoys in the Merna Brega area of Tripolitania during the night of April 2-3," the RAF communique said.

MACHINE-GUN VEHICLES

"After dropping bombs which were seen to burst among the vehicles, setting a number on fire, our aircraft descended to low altitude and stopped several more vehicles by machine-gun fire. A successful bombing raid was also carried out on Tripoli (Libyan capital)."

Merna Brega is about 150 miles south of Benghazi, from which the British have retired. It lies northeast of El Agheila, which was the most advanced point of the British Libyan drive.

Military observers said the port of Derna—224 miles east of Benghazi—with a fresh water supply vital to desert fighting, was a logical base for the next British stand.

In East Africa, however, British fortunes were still on the upswing.

The fall of Massaua, Red sea port and last island of Italian resistance in Eritrea, was expected momentarily—its defenders trapped between the watchful British Red sea fleet and victorious imperial land forces.

Somewhere in the fastnesses of the northwestern Ethiopia tableland apparently were the 30,000 to 40,000 survivors of Italy's fleeing Eritrean army. Five hundred miles farther south the Duke of Asata's Ethiopian army was falling back toward Addis Ababa with imperial columns in pursuit.

LONDON, April 4 (AP)—British military circles today called Britain's withdrawal from Benghazi a "depressing" setback but said there was nothing "tragic" about it.

The important thing in the desert, these sources said, is "what happens to armies."

They pointed out that the British allowed up most of the Italian army in Libya and near by all its equipment, and thus had gained a more important objective than occupation of territory.

manian frontier where German mechanized units and warplanes have been reported massing, was blacked out for the first time last night in a half hour emergency air raid drill.

All-night blackouts were staged in various communities in the strategic Vardar valley probable route of any German thrust toward Greece, and instructions were issued to residents in all danger spots telling them how to behave in a real air raid.

British circles were silent on their probable course of action in event the Germans invaded Yugoslavia, but a Berlin spokesman said yesterday Germany was aware Britain had concentrated "a considerable number" of troops in Greece near the Yugoslav border.—Editor's Note.

STAFF DEPARTS

Forty-two members of the German legation staff left Belgrade just before midnight on orders from Berlin, leaving behind only the charge d'affaires, a military attache and two assistants.

The staff of the Italian legation remained ready for hasty departure. The continuous anti-aircraft barrage, Zagreb and Ljubljana would be proclaimed open cities said that all interested belligerents would be informed of the decision in the usual way of the efforts of the royal government for peace fail and a state of war occurs.

German circles have predicted that Nazi troops could occupy Belgrade, a city of 270,000, within 48 hours after crossing the frontier.

Zagreb, a city of 150,000 and the capital of old Croatia, is about 50 miles from German troop concentrations on the Hungarian frontier. Ljubljana, chief city of old Slovenia with a population of about 60,000, is barely 20 miles from the Italian frontier and approximately 80 from the German border.

Nazi Press Screams Charges at Yugoslavia

BERLIN, April 4 (AP)—Just how much the Reich's patience will last is an unanswered question on the lips of many Germans as the clouds from Yugoslavia begin to cast longer shadows onto their Balkan "Lebensraum."

English and primarily United States efforts to stiffen the little kingdom's back became front page news in the morning press, which was without comment, however.

While officials still were tight-lipped regarding Germany's position toward Yugoslavia, apparently waiting for the unruly tripartite pact partner to make her stand clear at last, the press began charging her with having aggressive designs on Austria.

DOOR NOT SHUT

Although the door for peaceful adjustment of differences was not completely shut, Germans in general were expressing the opinion the time was ripening rapidly, necessitating a clear-cut decision one way or another, especially since the Bulgarian occupation was announced completed.

Meanwhile the press was fanning feelings to a white glow, printing the experiences of fugitives. Reports of Yugoslav fortifying of borders and preparations to blast Danube river dams also were featured. Italy's stand in this precarious situation also was still somewhat unclear to the average German and rumors of the chance of mediation by the Reich's Axis partner were ignored by Reich's spokesmen.

This much appeared clear, however—that a complete turnaround by Yugoslavia is one prerequisite for re-establishment of normal relations with the Reich.

2 U. S. Missionaries Released by Korea

TOKYO, April 4 (AP)—Two Americans, Miss Alice M. Butts and Herbert P. Blair, seized last week in a roundup of missionaries in Korea have been released, it was reported today. However, they must report regularly to Korean officials.

The only American missionaries known in Tokyo to remain in the custody of Korean officials are Otto de Camp and Dr. D. S. Lowe. Accused of removing God-sent shrines, they probably will go on trial April 13.

GREEKS WIN AIR BATTLE

FORT BANKS WOMAN HELD IN LOAN FRAUD

A 36-year-old mother of two children, enjoying a clerk-stenographer at Fort Banks hospital, was ordered held in $1000 personal surty for the Federal Grand Jury today on charges she obtained funds from a loan corporation under fraudulent names.

The woman, Mrs. Marion G. Gagan, of Claremont st., Somerville, was charged specifically with intent to defraud by using the names of two nurses and a dietitian at the hospital to obtain loans totalling $400 from the Public Loan Corp., of 10 Postoffice sq.

She was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Howard W. Robins in the Federal building.

Sisters Fight Niece Over Brother's Will

SALEM, April 4.—In an attempt to break a will drawn by their brother giving most of his $24,000 estate to a Haverhill niece, two sisters today filed a motion in probate court here for a Superior Court jury hearing on the grounds the bequest was obtained through fraud.

Mrs. Margaret A. Mahoney of Haverhill, and Mrs. Elizabeth A. Cullen of Salem, N. H., claim that in disposing of her estate their brother, Thomas A. Birmingham, former Haverhill mill superintendent, who was 76 when he died last Jan. 27, was unduly influenced by Miss Constance L. Fitzgerald.

Birmingham's will, which was drawn last October, did not mention Mrs. Cullen but placed $5000 in trust for Mrs. Mahoney, Miss Fitzgerald, who is a stenographer in the Haverhill district court, was named trustee.

Judge Fitch took the motion for a superior court jury hearing under advisement.

1252 Sacks U. S. Mail Lost On British Ship

In addition, the postoffice said, 240 bags of mail and eight sacks of parcel post received in the United States for relay to Britain, were lost.

The letter was allegedly sent to Angelo Lodi of Eastern ave., mutilated body was found in the woods off Island Pond rd., Springfield, last August.

"There is a fellow by the name and when I left they would think he had committed suicide."

Perry is described as a machine adjuster in a Springfield plant.

State House News In Brief

The joint legislative committee on judiciary today rejected recommendations of Gov. Saltonstall that the courts of Massachusetts be authorized to make their own rules of procedure.

Rejection of two measures to provide free hot lunches for needy school children was announced by the legislative committee on education. The bills were sponsored by Mayor William E. Kane of Woburn and Otis A. Hood, chairman of the Communist party in this state. The same committee advised defeat of a bill to permit establishment in public schools of classes in lip reading.

Representing the State Savings Bank Assn., Rutherford E. Smith appeared before the Senate Municipal Finance Committee to oppose a bill to place a charge of one dollar on tax certificates paid by banks or other persons acting for owners of real estate. Albert Briggs, Brookline town clerk, asked for favorable action on the measure, stating requests for tax certificates caused extra work for the collectors.

Judge Jennie L. Barron declined the role of matchmaker in Municipal Court today.

Before her, pending disposition of their case on a morals charge, were Katherine Day, 21, former Newton waitress, and John H. Robinson, 41, arrested March 26 in a Huntington ave. Back Bay, apartment. Said Robinson:

"If I ever get out of this awful mess, judge, I'd like to marry this little girl—if she'll have me.

WOMAN JUDGE SPURNS COURT WEDDING PLEA

"To prove my sincerity I'd like to be married to her right now by the court, if the court is willing."

The girl smiled but Judge Barron made no reply.

Instead, she concluded her conference with probation officers and then sentenced Robinson to one month in the house of correction and continued the girl's case to Tuesday under $3000 bail.

The couple were arrested on a tip from police in Southbridge to be on the lookout for a couple fronting with a chauffeured car and allegedly passing worthless checks.

Both, according to the police, have numerous aliases—the man known as Charles Howland, James Shea and John Day, and the girl as Katherine Day and Helen Leavitt.

Probation officers informed Judge Barron that Robinson is now serving a three months sentence at the House of Correction on a check charge and that the girl was released from Sherburn last August.

"Where is your wife?" Judge Barron asked Robinson.

"I am not married."

"The record shows you were."

"No, that is a mistake and I have relatives here in court who can testify I never was."

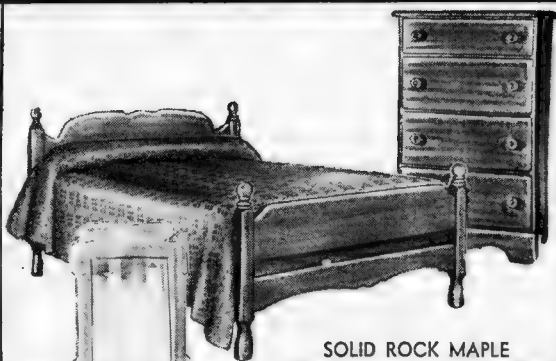

Robinson asked that the trouble he was in should not be held against the girl.

Baby Slightly Hurt in Drop Of 3 Stories

Luck rode down three stories today with little Dorothy Alleyne, a year and one-half old, when she tumbled from a window of her home in Saratfield st., Roxbury.

Picked up by a motorist, James Lynch, the baby was taken by him to City Hospital.

There Dr. Francis Crimmins discovered that she had suffered only a lacerated nose, contusions and a concussion. She had not even lost consciousness.

Little Alleyne made her flight from the third-story window in a brief absence of her mother, Mrs. Althea Alleyne, who had gone out to mail a letter.

Matsuoka Again Greeted in Berlin

BERLIN, April 4 (AP)—Japanese Foreign Minister Matsuoka, returning from Rome, arrived today at Anhalter station. He was greeted by German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop.

Shipfitter Held As Draft Dodger

A Fore River shipfitter became today the first local victim of the government's announced intent to deal harshly with draft-dodgers.

Alfred W. Boutin, 27, married, of Walnut ave., Roxbury, was ordered held in $5000 bail for the federal grand jury by U. S. Commissioner Howard W. Robbins when he pleaded not guilty on a charge that he willfully, unlawfully and knowingly failed to report to his draft board.

His number came up last month. Commissioner Robbins' action followed a warning last week by U. S. Atty. Edmund Brandon that ample time had been provided for prospective draftees to familiarize themselves with requirements of the Selective Service Act, and that cases of draft dodgers would be dealt with severely.

Deadly Apple Jails an Eve

22 ASHEVILLE, N. C., April 4 (AP)—An apple was officially termed a deadly weapon in police court here and an "assault" with the apple resulted in a four-month jail sentence for the defendant.

J. P. Stevens, a grocer, testified a girl took one bite from an apple taken from his store and then bit him with it when asked to be paid.

The solicitor immediately demanded that the charge be amended "to assault with a deadly weapon, to-wit, an apple." The court agreed.

Venezuela Removes Nazi Crew From Ship

CARACAS, Venezuela, April 4 (AP)—The Venezuelan news agency, SIV, reported today that a Coast Guard detachment has boarded the German merchantmen Durazzo in Maracaibo harbor under command of military authorities and that the crew of the 3153-ton vessel has been disembarked "apparently as a precautionary measure."

POPE AND KING OF ITALY MAY STAGE PEACE DRIVE

By HECTOR LICUDI

MADRID, April 4 (INS)—Pope Pius XII, pained to the depths of his soul by the spread of warfare throughout the civilized world, may stage a major effort for restoration of peace during the Easter season, according to information in Madrid today.

The Spanish Catholic organ, Ya, a highly influential publication in this predominantly Catholic nation, published a dispatch from its Rome correspondent which contained this significant line:

"There is a possibility of a determined effort for peace in the world."

"It is backed by the Pope himself, or is being made as the suggestion of some nation not too compromised by her own attitude."

Neutral circles in Madrid suggested a number of possibilities.

The United States, although now an active supporter of Great Britain and her Allies, is no "compromised" by an outright declaration of war.

Soviet Russia is definitely on the sidelines.

This leaves Spain itself. Many reports have reached Madrid of plans by Pope Pius, possibly in collaboration with King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, to put a stop to hostilities before they engulf every last corner of the world. The dispatch published in Madrid today, however, was the most authoritative to date.

"It is suggested," the paper's Rome correspondent wrote, "that peace negotiations may enjoy the support of Japan and the United States."

U. S. Grads Told Of War Crisis

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—Undersecretary of War Patterson told a 72-man graduating class of the Army Industrial College today that the world crisis was no less grave than it was when the class entered three months ago, "but it is certainly no more grave."

"That fact alone is of great and heartening significance," Patterson said in a prepared address.

It was the first three-month class in the college's 17-year history. The normal course is four months.

"Neither side has gained much or lost much, the larger issues of the war considered," Patterson said. "But the democracies have gained time, and time is the stuff of victory."

Cargo Ship and U-Boat in Crash

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, April 4 (AP)—The crew of a big merchant ship, her hull pierced below the waterline, told today of her race for this harbor after a collision with a German submarine.

The two vessels collided as the submarine came to the surface early in the morning, one member of the crew said. Water poured into the merchant ship's engine room, but the hole was plugged with lumber, rags and paper, he said.

The submarine started to shell the ship but fired no torpedoes and her guns went dead after a few rounds, he continued, leading crewmen to believe she may have sunk.

The merchant ship sped away as fast as possible.

Donkeys in Slav Army Homesick Refuse to Eat

SKOPJE, Yugoslavia, April 4 (AP)—Homesick donkeys, requisitioned and in the Army now, are posing a problem for Yugoslav mule skinner.

The temperamental pack animals have lost their appetite and refuse to eat, but the army is hoping that when they get hungry enough they'll change their minds.

Epidemic of Typhus Feared in Spain

MADRID, April 4 (AP)—Doctors attending typhus cases in Madrid said today the solution in Spain's capital could be viewed as dangerous, although the spread of the disease has not yet reached alarming proportions.

Official figures show that 200 cases have been treated since existence of the disease was noticed, but of these 40 died.

U. S. Insulted; Recall Handbook

LONDON, April 4 (INS)—The London press today was up in arms over what it termed an "insult" to the United States contained in the new 1940 edition of "Jane's All the World's Aircraft."

C. G. Grey, editor of the year-book, published in London and distributed throughout the world, was charged with responsibility for a caption over a photo of a Lockheed-Hudson bomber being towed across the Canadian-American frontier which the press found offensive. The caption stated: "Now that the United States has decided to support the war financially 'to the last Englishman' preparations are being made to fly flying fortresses direct to England."

It was understood that the publishers had recalled all copies of the book.

F. D. BLAMES REDS FOR ALLIS STRIKE

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today he regarded the strike at the Allis-Chalmers plant at Milwaukee as a very bad situation and added that something has got to be done about it. He said he had asked for a little time—not very much—before taking further action.

The President's comments on the strike situation came in response to a request for comment on the Vinson bill to permit the government to take over strike-bound plants. He said he had not read the bill and added there was only one really serious stoppage in defense industries and that was the Allis-Chalmers plant.

The strike has been certified to the defense mediation board for action.

Mr. Roosevelt refused to say what steps he might employ, asserting that the mediation board was meeting to consider the controversy and he did not want to prejudice it.

Asked whether any Communist activity was prevalent in the strike, he replied in the affirmative. To a query whether he regarded the Ford plant tie-up as serious as that at Milwaukee, Mr. Roosevelt replied, give them a day or two.

BRIDGE BILL SIGNED

WASHINGTON, April 4 (INS)—President Roosevelt signed a bill granting the consent of Congress for construction of a free highway bridge across the Hudson river between Mechanicsville and Schacko.

Reds Held as Plotters Of All Chicago Strikes

By ROBERT PARKS

CHICAGO, April 4—Every recent labor disorder in Chicago in which rioting flared was deliberately plotted and executed by Communists. It was charged today by Lieut. Make Mills, veteran head of the police industrial detail.

He emphasized what is clearly shown by the record—that the CIO, nominal director of most of the strikes, is in no manner affiliated with the Red Internationale.

The bulk of CIO members are patriotic Americans. Lieut. Mills pointed out. But records also reveal that when the Communist party of the United States was formed in Chicago in 1913 it adopted in toto the world revolution manifesto of the Moscow Comintern. Its platform called on American workers to initiate mass strikes in revolt against craft labor.

The platform added: "Revolutionary socialism does not propose to 'capture' the bourgeoisie parliamentary state, but to conquer and destroy it."

Chief trouble-shooter among CIO big-wigs is Powers Hapgood, one-time Socialist candidate for governor of Indiana and an ardent apologist for the Russian Soviets. He has been arrested in several states for alleged radical activities. Grant Oakes, chairman of the Chicago units of the striking Farm Equipment Workers, is listed as an officer of the Chicago chapter of the American Peace Mobilization, branded by the Dies committee as a Communist organization.

Dewitt Gilpin of Cleveland, a

CIO organizer and Harvester strike leader, is listed as a Communist.

Another Communist high in CIO councils is Jack Johnstone, Communist candidate for mayor in 1939.

The Dies committee lists six other Communists in the Chicago area. They are:

Jack Russak and Joe Weber of Chicago, Ethel Stevens of Gary, Eleanor Rye of Chicago, Doyle Gormer, a former reporter for the Peoples' Press, and Mrs. Minnie Ingorsoll.

CIO GRANTED SUBPOENAS ON FORD, SON

man said the union would "show that the strike was provoked by the company as part of its design to impede national defense as shown by (1) its refusal to accept government contracts for Great Britain, and (2) its refusal to accept a union proposition that the men go back to work to manufacture defense articles."

On Wednesday, when the UAW-CIO had barricaded streets preventing Ford workers from entering the struck plant, union officials telegraphed the Office of Production Management offering to facilitate entry into the plant of any workers the OPM or the U. S. Department of Labor said were needed for defense production. Unionists said today no reply had been received.

Another night passed peacefully on Miller rd., scene of strike violence Wednesday and Thursday. The Rouge plant, largest single industrial unit in the world employing 85,000 workers, stretches for more than a mile along this highway.

Fewer pickets and a curtailed force of uniformed State Police were on duty at Gate 4, main plant entrance.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS

On other strike fronts, however, as the walkout of the CIO in an attempt to win a contract with the only major non-union automobile manufacturer moved into its third day, there were the following developments:

Federal Conciliator James F. Drwey, after conferences with union and company representatives said "we are making some progress."

Bennett said "our competitors" and "the Communists" would like to have the Ford plant turned over to the government, "but that's not in the books."

Holin McGrory, American Federation of Labor Ford organizer, said a lot of bloodshed would result if a back-to-work movement starts, and that his union was asking the Governor to send 5000 troops to the Rouge plant.

Homer W. Martin, former UAW AFL president, was removed as an AFL representative after protests from the Detroit and Wayne County Federation of Labor.

UAW-CIO officials submitted a three-point proposal including recognition of the union and agreement on wages, seniority and grievance procedure similar to the union's contracts with General Motors and Chrysler Corp.

State Police investigated UAW CIO claims that Ford service men were smuggling workers and guns into the huge plant.

Another Strike Ties Up Detroit Streets

DETROIT, April 4 (AP)—The United Retail and Wholesale Employees of America (CIO) called a strike today against the C. F. Smith Co., Detroit's largest grocery warehouse, and an automobile barricade and lines of pickets immediately surrounded the big building at West Grand Blvd. and Toledo Ave.

Tucker P. Smith, director of the union in Michigan, said the union won an employee election, but that the company refused to sign an agreement and discriminated against union members.

8 Fewer Millionaires In 1940, Tax Shows

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—Forty-two persons paid income taxes on individual incomes of $1,000,000 or more last year.

The number of $1,000,000 incomes was eight fewer than in the preceding year, but experts attributed the change to technical factors in connection with reporting of capital gains. In conformity with the law, names were not disclosed by the Treasury Department.

CRUSHED BY TRUCK

NORTH READING, April 4 (AP)—Charles E. Wheeler, 44, was killed today when the hoisting mechanism on the rear of his truck slipped and crushed his head.

Judge Advises Man To Buy Family Food Instead of Auto

FITCHBURG, April 4 (AP)—Arraigned on a charge of non-support of his wife and two children, Norman W. Morin, 26, told the court:

"I was saving money to buy a car to take the family riding on Sundays."

Judge A. Z. Goodfellow ordered a four months' suspended sentence after admonishing Morin that it was "more important that you buy your family food."

30 Convoy Sinkings Claimed by Nazis

BERLIN, April 4 (AP)—The German high command reported today that Nazi submarines had sunk 8,616 tons of merchant shipping in the north Atlantic—mostly in attacks on a strongly-protected England-bound convoy—and had badly damaged an additional 12,000 tons. In addition to the losses inflicted on shipping in the North Atlantic, two merchantmen, totaling 10,000 tons, were reported sunk and two others damaged by the Luftwaffe in English waters and off the Scottish east coast. "Numerous conflagrations" were declared started last night in an attack on port facilities at Bristol. Other Nazi air raiders "effectively bombed" British airports and war-

2 Frenchmen Must Die for Robbing German in Berlin

BERLIN, April 4 (AP)—"Especially good conduct" is expected of guests in Germany said the court today in sentencing two Frenchmen to death for robbery of a German citizen.

The Frenchmen came here from Paris as factory workers. They were alleged to have knocked down and robbed a German during a blackout.

vital objectives on the south and east English coast, the high command said.

The Germans acknowledged the RAF had attacked Brest in German-occupied France during the night, but said heavy anti-aircraft fire drove the raiders off and forced them to drop their bombs where they did little damage.

F. D. Aide Warns Mine Strikers

NEW YORK, April 4 (INS)—Still deadlocked.

That today continued to be the status of the prolonged negotiations for a new wage contract between union leaders and the nation's soft coal producers, while 400,000 workers in a vital defense industry remained idle.

But the miners won't remain idle long, was the veiled warning of Dr. John R. Steelman, President Roosevelt's representative at the conference table.

Stelman, who is director of the United States conciliation service, conveyed the impression he was confident the bituminous mines will be reopened by Monday. He arranged a 24-hour extension of negotiations, which sets the new "deadline" at midnight tonight.

omit foreign vessels to be brought to its harbors and roadsteads and there willfully damaged and wrecked in violation of law and to the detriment of navigation and even the safety of its harbors without restraint or hindrance by the local sovereign.

The State Department made public notes replying to two protests, each received from the German and Italian embassies which demanded release of the vessels seized last week-end.

Secretary Hull, in rejecting these demands, promised to communicate further with the Axis embassies when investigation of other phases of their complaints is completed.

Bluntly, Secretary Hull expressed surprise at the "extreme assertions and demands" and declared the German embassy had failed to support its contentions of violations of international law or a treaty of friendship and commerce between the United States and Germany. "I know of no principle of international law," Hull informed the German embassy, "which permits the masters or crews of vessels of a country which has sought refuge in or entered the ports of another country, to commit acts of destruction in disregard of local law and of the hospitality which they have been permitted to enjoy."

Hull declared further that there was no provision "in the treaty between our two countries which lends even color of support to any such argument."

"If the scuttling and burning of ships in other harbors of this continent," he added, "may be regarded as indicative of what might be expected in our ports, it is difficult to see how your government could expect this government to be oblivious to the situation presented."

The State Department released only the American replies to the Axis notes.

The two Italian notes have not yet been made public and only the first of the two German notes has been released.

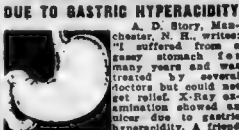

In replying to the Italian note, Hull cited American law to justify the action in seizing the Italian ships and arrest of members of the crews when deemed necessary "to protect the vessel from damage or injury or to prevent damage or injury to any harbor or waters of the United States."

DESTRUCTION CITED
"These concerted and widespread acts of destruction on the part of officers and crews in violation of specific provisions of the statutory laws of the United States and at a time when the vessels were enjoying the hospitality and protection of our ports cannot be viewed with equanimity," Secretary Hull said.

He added that the Italian ambassador "must have overlooked the gravity of the situation when in his communication of March 31 he registered a protest against the action on the part of the federal authorities with respect to 'Italian properties and nationals.'"

As to the Italian inquiry about the views and intentions of the United States regarding the ships and their crews, Secretary Hull said this matter was receiving the attention of the appropriate authorities.

Twins Row Looks to The Future

They think a lot away ahead, these boys of four. For example, late in Grand and Donald E. and Gerald F. are twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Falmouth of Falmouth, West Newton, who are actually thinking about college now.

"Charles F. gave us more than the fact that the boys were who he at 20 months of age, he was in the yard of his house of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brown of 12 and will be ready to study when the school's hour 'ain done' off Mr. and Mrs. Brown's house of 21 Falmouth in room 8 from William, they is.

Even the boys are a surprise to Mr. and Mrs. F. who have been in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Falmouth of 12 and 13, who is a member of the Falmouth Club.

Falmouth and Gerald and Donald are very intelligent and like to study.

"We got along fine except one thing. Our family is so big there are 11 children in the family, from 1 to 26 that we have to eat in shifts. And we don't like to eat on the same shift."

"You know, maybe when we grow up we'll marry the twins girls. And maybe—the way things are going on this street—in that there another set of twin girls will have been born for David and Donald, the Brown twins."

You see how far ahead they're looking.

WILLIAM FULTON, New York newspaper correspondent, sailed to and from Havana on vessels subsidized by the United States Government.

The experience was disillusioning.

Among other things, according to Writer Fulton, there was the customary life boat drill for the crew.

Instead of going about their appointed tasks and carrying out their individual duties, sailors grumbled and fumbled.

Many of the seamen stood idly by while a few of their mates cranked the hoisting machinery and tried not too successfully to push the boat outward from the davits.

Finally, after fifteen long and apprehensive minutes, the boat hit the water.

The whole operation should have been completed in two minutes at the most.

Mr. Fulton also charges that discipline was lacking at almost every turn, both among the able-bodied seamen on deck and the stewards taking care of the passengers' comfort.

He says he found stewards lazy and ill-mannered; waiters in the dining salons surly and rude, and little pride in the ship or in the American Merchant Marine.

These are serious complaints.

They concern every American and particularly the American Maritime Commission.

Taxpayers are providing many millions of dollars annually to keep subsidized ships in operation.

They have every right to expect efficiency and loyalty on liners flying the Stars and Stripes.

It should be the immediate endeavor of the Maritime Commission to see that the taxpayers' expectations are realized.

If we permit our seamen to be defiant and contemptuous of American ideals, how can we hope to win respect of other nations?

LEFT-HANDERS are organizing and demanding recognition.

From Chicago comes news that distinguished "Southpaws," including Rudy Vallee, orchestra leader; Joseph A. Graber, jurist; W. Linwood Thompson, sculptor, and Curtis Mitchell, polo-playing press officer for the United States Army, have banded together under the banner of the "International Association for the Protection of the Rights of Left-Handers."

RUDY VALLEE

Their first president, Henry Hunter, a radio actor, gives the organization's aims. He says:

"We're tired of playing golf on courses laid out for right-handers, using right-hand gear-shifts on automobiles, and sitting down to dinner tables laid for right-handers."

"Now we are going to insist that left-handed persons should be allowed to take their oath in court and in office with the left hand; that buttons on men's clothes should be reversed for southpaws, and that musical instruments should be designed for left-handed musicians."

"We want to crush once and for all the silly notion that southpaws are any more maladroit or any less skillful, talented, adept or dexterous than right-handers."

We are not at all certain that our left-handed friends will accomplish as much as they hope.

Right-handers are overwhelmingly in the majority, and the majority usually rules—at least, in this good old U. S. A.

Besides, converting a right-handed world into a left-handed one might not be as pleasurable as the "southpaws" imagine.

From infancy persons born left-handed accustom themselves to doing things in reverse.

It is not easy to change the habits of a lifetime.

None the less, we applaud Mr. Hunter for taking a fast left hook at those who infer that left-handers are inferior in thought or action.

Alexander the Great, Charlemagne, Michelangelo, Leonardo da Vinci and William Shakespeare worked and wrote with the allegedly wrong hands.

Who among us will say that they lacked talent or ability?

However, this writer is going to pursue a policy of strict neutrality in the war between left-handers and right-handers.

He can afford to do so. He is ambidextrous.

On The Side

"MY HUSBAND is the most good-natured man I ever met," writes a Detroit. "He's good-natured in the morning and at night when he comes from work no matter how hard a day he has had, nor how tired he is, he's still good-natured and greets me with a smile, a hug and a great big kiss and says: 'Hi, Honey, still love papa?'" Some husband, I'll say. If he isn't the champion husband of Detroit, he certainly can give the champ some competition. I am going to try to let this letter be an inspiration to me. I am not always good-natured. Some mornings before breakfast I am very crabby. I think when my girl friend comes to breakfast tomorrow I will smile a good substantial smile and cry: "Hi, Honey, still love papa?" I'll let you know what re-action I get from this. Or perhaps you don't care?

PASSING BY: Abe Simon, massive leather-pusher. Is now saying if he had not hurt his thumb before the fight he would not have lost to Joe Louis. Such may have been the case; but good losers just don't offer excuses after a contest. Attention of Mr. Simon is called to what O. W. Homes said:

To put up, to own up,
To shut up if beaten
Are the virtues of a sporting man.

Helen Gahagan. (Pronounced Gah-gan). Smart looking actress. Helen is in politics now and is thinking of running for Congress.

I would like to see Clare Boothe, Dorothy Parker, Nita Naldi and a few more wise and witty women in Congress. To be a really representative government there should be many more Congresswomen. So if around election time in Manhattan you see a torchlight parade on Broadway led by men carrying banners: "Nita Naldi for Congress," you will know it is my idea.

PLEASE NOTE: A feminine client of Flint, Mich., says she is married to a gentlemans who weighs 320 pounds. But does not mention what she weighs. This item appeared here recently. The feminine client in question now writes: "You would bring that up. I weigh 250 pounds" . . . Mark Twain's wife would not permit him to use profanity so the author originated a number of non-propane expressions as substitutes many of which have since been used by others in preference to the naughty words such as: "Dad blame it!" "Dog-gone it," "Juffering Mose's," "jumping Jeshophat," etc. . . . A saying of David Harum's was: "Do unto the other feller the way he'd like to do unto you, an' do it just." Way things are in the world now this observation might make the basis of a good foreign policy.

MY DAY

NEW YORK, Thursday—I did not have space yesterday to tell you anything about the annual dinner given by the Women's National Press Club. This is a most entertaining party and if I weren't called upon to make a speech at the end, I should enjoy every minute of it.

Last year I promised myself that if I were able to attend the party this year, I would not be sitting at the speakers' table. I would be completely carefree, with perhaps a little sense of superiority towards those who carried the responsibility of speaking before this gifted group of women.

But here I was again, listening intently to everything said on the stage, knowing that at the end I had to answer as best I could what quips or friendly jibes had been made at my expense!

DESPITE this sense of responsibility, I really enjoy this party very much and look forward to it from year to year. The imposing list of honor guests shows that many other people do too.

We had several ladies staying with us and I think the gentlemen of the household felt rather relieved when they found that their only obligation was to entertain us for a brief moment before dinner. Then my husband, Mr. Hopkins and Jimmy had dinner alone and a chance afterwards to work or to talk as they saw fit.

Next week the Gridiron Club party will take place and the gentlemen will be in the forefront over the week-end!

YESTERDAY MORNING I left Washington for New York City to keep a dental appointment at noon, followed by the luncheon of the women's division of the American Jewish Congress. In the afternoon I spoke to the Open-Air Classroom Teachers' Association of the New York City Department of Education. Then I had the pleasure of a visit with my mother-in-law.

Today I have several appointments. Among others, I am going to try on an Easter suit. I was asked in my press conference on Tuesday what I had chosen for this year and I could not remember, so it is time I gave a little thought to this matter of feminine adornment!

This afternoon I go to a meeting of the council for student equality at New York University. Tonight I preside at a dinner for the Common Council for American Unity.

I always think when I come up to New York that I am going to have ample time to do a great many things which I should like to do, such as seeing art exhibitions and really getting a chance to talk with some of my old friends. For the most part, however, in the end I find myself doing many semi-official duties and thrusting personal affairs into the background. Some day all this will be changed and I only hope that my personal friends will have the patience to bear with me during the interval and that they will not forget the old ties.

LAW DELAYS JESSEL'S
HOUSE SALE

George Jessel

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, April 4—Last summer George Jessel purchased a home in Hollywood. He lived in it for three weeks, then decided to sell it and found a customer. The sale, however, has not been completed yet, because of an unusual array of legal technicalities which have to be met . . . Jessel discovered that California's laws provide for dower rights accruing to the wife, unless she signs a waiver. But Lou Jessel still is a minor, and her waiver would not be recognized. Her mother, therefore, had to be appointed trustee for Lois, and a suit brought to supply the waiver . . . But California doesn't recognize Mexican divorces—such as the one between Jessel and Norma Talmadge. And so the lawyers insisted that Norma sign a quit claim. "But if Mexican divorces don't go here," Jessel reminded, "then Norma's still married to Joe Schenck. What other conditions are there? Don't tell me that before I can sell my house at an $8,000 loss a woman in Pittsburgh first must light a fire, then a guy in Kansas City must put a pickle in his ear, and a Chinaman in Ottawa must play the 'Marseillaise' on a cornet in G-minor yet."

ENTERPRISE: Boris Morroe has signed to produce a picture called "Tales of Manhattan." It's about a young man who hooks his full dress suit in a pawn shop. Seven men rent that suit, and the movie story will be composed of the seven separate episodes—each to be written and directed by a different person. The writers will be Ben Hecht, Ferenc Molnar, Vicki Baum, Charles Brackett, Billy Wilder, Clifford Odets and Herman Mankiewicz. The cast will include Stokowski, Edward G. Robinson, Charles Laughton, Edgar Bergen, Fred Astaire, Margaret Sullivan and Chaplin.

SPEED: Sally Benson's new book, "Junior Miss," will be a Book-of-the-Month choice. Bennet Cerf, the publisher, received the news while he was lunching at 12:30. He phoned Sally and told her about it . . . At 12:42 Cerf received a phone call from an auto agency, asking him about a Sally Benson who had purchased a car by phone a few minutes earlier and had given his name as a reference.

FULFILLMENT: At the Martin Beck Theater, where Lillian Hellman's "Watch on the Rhine" had its premiere, Herman Shumlin, who produced and directed the play, did the one thing which producers always have dreamed of doing on opening night . . . The curtain was advertised to rise at 8:30. Almost half an hour after that, when the first nighters, as is their habit, still were entering the theater and annoying the cast by their late arrival, Shumlin walked into the lobby, stood there grimly and hissed.

CHATTER: Gene Fowler, who flew to New York to testify as a character witness in the Schenck case, made the flight despite his poor health. En route in the plane Fowler required medical attention and was given oxygen . . . King Carol and Magda Lupescu had their luggage placed aboard the Siboney, but it all was removed an hour before the ship left Lisbon . . . Josette Daly, the debutante, is auditioning for a singing job at Fefe's Monte Carlo . . . Noel Coward is expected to return here next month . . . When Gertrude Lawrence goes to England she'll work for Basil Dean's troupe entertaining the soldiers. Contrary to all the published stories, she won't drive an ambulance. Her husband won't even permit her to drive a car in New York.

FAME: When Harpo Marx was introduced to Somerset Maugham he repeated Maugham's name and then seemed to be puzzled . . . "Do I surprise you?" the famed writer asked him . . . "It isn't that," Harpo confessed. "It's just that I always thought Somerset Maugham was the name of a place—like Bowling Green, Epson Downs, Somerset Maugham. See what I mean?"

ALMOST FIFTY PERSONS congregated outside of Lindy's to watch the resuscitation of a lady who had fainted. A Lindy diner, who joined the crowd to watch the lady, fled hurriedly when he himself became the object of their stares—Charlie Chaplin.

VICKI BAUM

WHILE "SPACE ON THE DANCE FLOOR ONLY" prevailed in widely distant niches of the Rialto last night, two life-sized exhibits suggestive for the possible reason of a record-breaking Lenten night were ring-siding at the Mayfair . . . Exhibit A was handsome Ensign Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., U. S. N. . . . Exhibit B was Ensign John Roosevelt, U. S. N. R.

WHAT THEIR DISTINGUISHED PAPPY has accomplished in setting the wheels of industry whirling again seemed the only explanation for Thursday, April 3 (mid-Lent) taking on the aspect of New Year's Eve—any New Year's Eve.

"WELL, I GUESS ALL THAT 'defense money' is finally making its way into circulation," was the burden of three separate comments picked up by this reporter as he saw an incredible throng filling every nook in the Coconut Grove.

THE GROVE WASN'T THE ONLY PLACE where the nightclub equivalent of the happy theatrical condition known as "SRO (standing room only)" was in effect . . . Records were shattered at the Fritz Carlton's Embassy Room, where Kitty Brando has assumed the directional duties . . . The tribute to Kitty was not unexpected, but a constant "turnover" which filled and emptied the intimate, new spot at least four times before midnight was regarded as remarkable.

THE WINE was flowing, too, and not with the speed of molasses . . . wine buyers in procession and capacity crowds—took place exactly a year ago, when Miss Brando was presiding over the destinies of a so-so cabaret. The Brown Derby, and converting it into a huge winner . . . Something most pleasingly liquid was revealed furthermore when a Miss Alma Shepard took the floor—and sang . . . And how she sang . . . A liquid voice of dulcet tones—with rhythm!

MISS SHEPARD SANG WITHOUT benefit of microphone, and above the din of a jovial crowd which kept the waiters on the run . . . This customer heard her deliver a sentimental ditty "Memories of You."

SPEAKING OF VOICES—or raving about voices, to be more precise—Everett Marshall, the hero of a dozen Broadway operettas, achieved an effect at the Grove's "guest night" that recalled (to a few sentimental old show-goers) a like performance by the same person a dozen years ago.

MR. MARSHALL "CLOSED" THE impromptu and excellent show arranged by Mickey Alpert for the benefit of his capacity crowd . . . He sang "Ol' Man River" . . . We have heard tremendous applause in many night clubs, but we do not recall seeing a mob surge to its feet and cheer a performer for minutes . . . This happened as Mr. Marshall was bowing himself off the Grove's cramped dance floor.

AND WHAT WAS IT THAT the incident recalled? . . . A first-night back in the mid-twenties, at the Apollo Theater, New York . . . Mr. Marshall was the hero then of a "George White's Scandals," the best "Scandals" (history has proved) of any in the series . . . The song Everett sang that night was a number being heard for the first time by an audience, and its title was "That's Why Darkies Were Born."

JUST A THOUGHT—but it is called to the attention of Manager Al Taxier of the Versailles . . . A pretty young lady who is no stranger to Boston audiences, Miss

GRACIE WORTH
She's Capable Mistress of Ceremonies

Gracie Worth, was mistress of ceremonies at the Grove's carnival during this record-shattering April 3 we are talking about.

CURRENTLY HERE with an operetta revival, Gracie may have no immediate destination when that show closes . . . Six or seven hundred fellow-attendants at the Grove's jubilee will agree with this endorsement of Miss Worth: she is attractive, talented, versatile, engaging—and funny! . . . She could be a great popular favorite in almost any man's night club.

COOPER GETS LEAD IN BURLESQUE FILM

By Louella O. Parsons

Gary Cooper

HOLLYWOOD, April 4—The dynamic Sam Goldwyn isn't letting any grass grow under his feet now that he's returned to picture making. He's not only preparing for Bette Davis' "The Little Foxes" but he's getting a Gary Cooper movie all ready to shoot June 1. The Cooper story, by Charles Brackett and William Wyler, Sam describes as a story of a professor and a burlesque queen. So far Sam has everything ready for the story but a title and if the fans like it he may use "The Professor and the Burlesque Queen," which I think is good.

Gary won't do any wandering from the Goldwyn studio from now on in for he'll play "Seventh Cavalry," a story of Custer's regiment, also for Sam, when he finishes being a professor. "The Little Foxes" starts the last of April and the very attractive Richard Carlson was added to the cast today in the juvenile lead.

MARIE WILSON

I AM CONSTANTLY amazed by Cecil B. DeMille, who, like old wine, improves with age. Not that C. B. is old, but he's been in the business since the one-reeler days and he's kept right up to the minute—so much so that he knows just what the public wants. Let's hope that C. B. never goes arly on us for he has his hand on the pulse of the public, which is the most important thing in the picture business. When I talked with him last he was up to his neck casting his next picture "Reap the Wild Wind." The latest to be added to the cast today are Ray Milland as the hero and Raymond Massey as the heavy.

WHIZZING OVER the wire from New York comes word that Grace Moore and the Paramount officials are talking business. I hear that when Y. Frank Freeman was in New York (he just returned a few days ago) he had a conference with the songbird who may come to Hollywood for a series of movies. Grace would like to star in "The Texas Nightingale." Zoe Akin's play—but since her deal has not progressed beyond the talking stage, Para has not bought the play nor yet indicated that they agree with Grace's choice. Music lovers who enjoy her singing will give her a royal welcome.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: T. Netcher is headed back to Hollywood but we understand for only a brief period. He returns to wed Bernice Parks; Nick Grinde and Marie Wilson looking at ranches. Wonder if they have finally made up their minds to take the matrimonial jump; the Jules Steins' cocktail party turned into a birthday celebration for Sylvia Fairbanks. The chef fixed up a cake in a hurry and everybody toasted Sylvia at the new Stein mansion. The playroom was opened up for the first time; Roger Pryor gets his pilot's license today and when the U. S. gets Roger he may be permitted to instruct.

NELSON EDDY returns from his concert tour next week and he'll rest briefly before starting a picture; Dick Powell and Joan Blondell back from a wonderful trip to New York, dining at the House of Murphy; Eddie and Bill Goetz are back from New York and we welcomed them home with our new-unusual weather-sunshine; Danny Winkler, who recently parted from Jean Rogers, dating Joan Harrison, writer; Roy Rogers, trying out his snappy French racing bike on the Republic lot today, took a tumble; Irene Hervey has joined Alan Jones personal appearance troupe as part of the act and I hear tell she's very good.

BLAME YOUR LIVER IF—

If your liver doesn't secrete 20 to 30 ounces of bile every day into your intestines—constipation with its headaches, mental dullness and that "half-alive" feeling often result. So you see how important it is to keep bile flowing freely! And what finer aid could one desire than Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, used so successfully for years by Dr. F. M. Edwards for treating his patients for constipation and sluggish liver bile.

Olive Tablets are unsurpassed in effectiveness because they stimulate liver bile to help digest fatty foods, they tone up muscular intestinal action, at the same time help elimination. Being purely vegetable, Olive Tablets are wonderful! Test their supreme goodness TONIGHT! 15¢, 30¢, 60¢. All drugstores.

YD GIVEN FIRST TASTE OF GAS WAR

Rookies of the Yankee Division today got their first taste of a gas attack at Camp Edwards.

But, it was only make-believe warfare for the selectees, who were taught by the old timers how to handle wounded and gassed men under fire.

Smoke clouds served for floating masses of gas as the draftees sped up in ambulances with stretchers to carry the "wounded" to safety from a 1200-yard battle line designed to simulate a five-mile front.

The 101st medical regiment, the 181st infantry and the 180th field artillery furnished the actors for the mock maneuvers. The backdrop included a first aid station, a gas attack collecting station, a field hospital and an evacuation station.

RADIO CREWS TO FT. DIX

Meanwhile, at the same camp, five field artillery command cars with their assigned radio crews started for Fort Dix, N. J., where they will be equipped with radio sets and also begin two weeks' instructions in the marking of artillery fires.

At Fort Devens army men added a 10-man motorcycle patrol to the post military police in efforts to check reckless drivers inside the Devens reservation.

Officers said that the 25-mile speed limit on all roads within the fort have been repeatedly ignored by resident soldiers and civilians.

Hereafter, it was said, authorities at the camp have only issued warnings.

MAY LOSE LICENSES

In the future, however, both soldiers and civilians face the possibility of losing their right to operate vehicles in this state, for officials have been assured of complete co-operation from the registry of motor vehicles in the case of violations.

Officers also were endeavoring to solve the problem of pedestrian traffic at the fort. Many of the roads within the camp lack sidewalks, and soldiers are in danger when they walk on these roads.

Minor Matter Gets Brighton Cafe Owner in Dutch

If Michael J. Coufos, cafe proprietor in Brighton sq., Brighton, takes the advice of Judge Connelly literally, he won't hire any more employees unless they have "whiskers down to their shoe-tops."

Of course Coufos may take the alternative advice of the Brighton court judge and ask that the applicants display birth certificates. The advice was given after Judge Connelly had filed, without a finding, a charge against Coufos of employing a minor for the sale of alcoholic beverages.

Fifty 18-year-old Mary Smith of Austin st., Cambridge, testified that because she needed the job she had told Coufos she was 22 years old.

Dr. Joss 'Love Notes' Bared

"Triple Spa" told Dale she had burned the doctor's notes.

"They were sweetheart notes-- nothing important in them. They were love notes," she said. "When did you get the last note?" Dale asked.

"About supper time the night of the murder."

"How did you get the note?"

"GAVE ME LOVE NOTE"

"He (Dr. Joss) asked for matches. I gave them to him and he gave me the note."

"Do you remember the contents?"

"He began it, 'Dearest.' The note was to 'keep my chin up and I'll make it up to you later.' He closed 'I love you.'"

Gondspred opened his cross-examination by asking.

"During your short acquaintance with Dr. Joss, from March 5 to the night of Mrs. Joss' death, in all that time did you ever hear him say a word against his wife, criticize her or find fault?"

"No."

"Did he say he respected her?"

"Yes."

"Did he ever by any act or word convey at any time the faintest idea of any intention of harming her in any way?"

"Never."

Court recessed for luncheon after Mrs. Mayo's testimony.

Richmond's police chief, Lloyd D. Umberhnd, testified over repeated objections from Atty. Gen. Frank I. Cowan that a year ago he had "run out of town" upon complaint by Dr. Joss a man resembling the "dope addict" whom the doctor has blamed for his wife's death.

THESE 40 days of Lent . . . how shallow we are to disregard their deep, human significance. For all of us, whatever our belief, must, sooner or later, come to Lent.

We must come to days of darkness and bewilderment, of suffering and sacrifice. Whatever our creed, we must go through these experiences because we are human beings.

LENT IS NOT A SPECIAL PERIOD SET APART BY THE CHURCH. IT IS A NORMAL TEST WHICH EVERY HUMAN SOUL MUST KNOW, IF IT WOULD ATTAIN MATURITY.

Have you ever blundered and been sorry?

Have you ever sacrificed and been betrayed?

Have you ever dreamed and seen those dreams demolished?

Have you ever beaten your heart out, in some frantic prayer?

Have you ever knelt in loss and disillusionment and crucifixion for some seemingly hopeless cause?

YOU HAVE? THEN YOU HAVE KNOWN LENT. THEN YOU WILL ALWAYS KEEP LENT, IN MEMORY.

Then you've walked with Christ on the desert, marched with Him on the mountain . . . known His desolation, temptation and loneliness. And you will feel near and dear to every soul who has passed through a like test.

They are not the special property of church or Jesus, these supreme tests. They are the property of all humanity . . . of all who can suffer and yearn and cry out desperately in their distress.

ALL OF US, whatever our color or creed, come to know Gethsemane. And all of us know our periods of deathly waiting in the wilderness. And all of us, sooner or later, carry a Cross upon our shoulders . . . and face a Crucifixion.

Nor are the Stations of the Cross the property of any creed. They are known to every soul who has dared to risk itself for something higher, finer than itself.

We all must know misunderstanding and betrayal. We all must know torture and humiliation. If we face public scorn for the faith within us. We all must know death to our own private dreams and ambitions.

THESE THINGS are Lent. These things are done in memory of Him . . . in memory of that Gallant Young Soul who dared to risk His life for love and have His body broken for the sake of a dream.

And there is no other way, for any of us. It is useless to think of Christ as a myth or a symbol. He was a real man who followed the way of all real men and women.

BREEDS VISITING IN NEW YORK

Mrs. William Bradley Breed of Chestnut Hill and her children, Bill, Jr., Sylvia and Betsy, are spending the spring holidays at the Biltmore Hotel in New York. Also registered for a sojourn at the Biltmore is Mrs. Kingsbury Browne of Brookline, who is accompanied by her son, Kingsbury, Jr., a student at Harvard.

who wish to rise above the level of the beast. There is no other way by which anyone may rise. There is no way to escape Lent.

Eat your bitter bread . . . drink your sour wine . . . in memory of Him!

AND THANK GOD FOR THE PAIN THAT LIFTS YOU FROM A BRUTE INTO A MAN!

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

There's a girl who lives in the same house with me—a nice old-fashioned boarding house. I fell for her before I realized it. She always looked so neat, capable, intelligent and tailor-made. I discovered she is a lawyer with a good firm and that they think well of her ability.

To know her better I asked her to give me some legal advice which I really needed. When I asked for a bill she said she was glad to help me, but I don't seem to make any headway. I rapped on her sitting-room door to pay a call. She opened it a crack and waited for me to state my errand. When I said I'd like to come in she told me she was busy.

I'm afraid I lifted my eyes too high, particularly as I hear she is engaged to a man in another city. Since doing that little legal favor for me, she is pleasant but distant.

JUST BILL:

Your case doesn't look very hopeful to me, and you will not be furthering this girl's interest in you if you attempt to call on her uninvited and force upon her even the little attentions which you see are not welcome.

You've been told she's engaged. Under the circumstances, don't you think it would be wiser for you to seek a new boarding house rather than make yourself unhappy by seeing this young lady daily?

Suitable Gift for Her Little Niece

DEAR MRS. BECKMAN:

I am thinking of sending my three-year-old niece a gift for her birthday, which is soon, and I would like to know whether I should address the package to her mother or to her. She seems pretty young to receive mail! If, instead of sending her a gift, I should enclose a money order in the envelope with the birthday card, should I address the envelope, to her mother or to her? BETSY.

Even if this little niece of yours is such a very young lady, I am sure that it will make her birthday even more exciting and gala to receive a package or an envelope addressed to her. I can picture her mother delightedly explaining to her, "This is for you, dear, with your own name on it and some one's loving birthday greetings in it!"

Although the money order will, of course, have to be made out in the mother's name, give the little girl the joy of having the envelope addressed to her.

DEAR MRS. BECKMAN,

Should strawberry shortcake in biscuit form be eaten with a spoon or a fork?

With shortcakes of all kinds we have the perfect opportunity of using the double silver service—the dessert spoon in the right hand, and the dessert fork in the left hand. The fork is an aid to the spoon, and with the spoon we can eat the juice of the berries. Observe carefully and you will see that this is the service given you in a well-appointed home.

You Can Be Beautiful

French Perfume Arrives in New Easter Gift Package

By ARLINE GOULD

YOU MAY not be the traditional spring-cleaning female who ties a towel around her long bob and makes the dust and winter soot fly... but you experience with everyone else the urge to re-do your rooms... particularly your clothes closet and bathroom.

Well... we have THE idea of the spring for you... choose one of the most elegant perfumes in the world... but not correspondingly elegantly priced... and do your whole spring self... and the most personal rooms of your habitation around it!

You can do this... and get the benefit of such concentration of one scent that you'll always be identified with it... and this is such an alluring one that it would be flattering to be associated with it...

by adopting a certain French creation.

There just isn't anything that you need which doesn't come scented with this stratagem of feminine enticement expressed in a fragrance... including powder, lipsticks and every imaginable little luxury for the bath.

You might choose as your first motion toward "living with" this perfume the new Easter gift package which has just arrived in town. Under a sellophane hood is a dram bottle of the perfume itself, and wrapped around it to form a big, billowing crinoline are three sachets in satin bags.

Just take apart the crinoline and you'll discover the sachets have ribbon loops so you may slip them on coat hangers.

Don't leave it to your own nose and taste alone... this choice of a perfume fragrance. You'll find it imperative to follow our suggestion and let it become literally part of you by using everything scented with it... when you discover how it snags your friends to attention and awareness of your new attractiveness.

If you'd like information on this French perfume and the sachet gift box phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, week-days except Saturday, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ELSIE ROBINSON writes the woman's viewpoint, discusses everyday affairs and problems, regularly in the Boston American.

Fish Chowder One of Most Popular Dishes

By ARTHUR LEE

IN THE QUEST for "something different" to vary the monotony of Lenten fish meals, the homemaker will find that variety in method of preparation and selection of species are equally important. There is no need to confine one's self to familiar tried-and-true varieties of fish, prepared in the same old.

Annually more than 160 different kinds of fish and shellfish are harvested from the waters of the United States and Alaska. In fact, there are so many different species that so many ways to prepare them for the table that a different fish dish could be served every day in the year—with two on Friday.

Quite frequently, however, there is a division of family taste in respect to fish dishes. Father may prefer his fish fried; sister may like hers broiled, while Mother and Junior will vote for baked fish as their common choice. Whether or not such family preferences exist, a fish dish which has appetite appeal for every member of the family is the fish chowder.

Fishes of various nations show a common weakness for dishes where fish or meat and vegetables are combined in the cooking, along with suitable seasonings, and served as a single dish. In this country, fish chowder without doubt is one of the most popular of these combination food dishes.

FISH CHOWDER

Almost any white-meated lean fish—no fat, skin, or bones—is suitable for use in the "complete-meal" dish in addition to two pounds of fish, these other ingredients are required:

- 3 cups sliced potatoes
- 2-3 cups sliced onions

- 2 1/2 cups salt pork (fat back), diced into small pieces
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/4 cup pepper
- 1 cup water

The first step is to fry the diced salt pork in heavy kettle or Dutch oven until it is a golden brown color, then add the sliced onions and fry until they are a light yellow color. Add the potatoes, sprinkle with the sliced pepper, then add the cup of water and cook the combination until the potatoes are about half done. At this point put in the fish, fish side down, and cook until the potatoes are soft. Any skin remaining on the fish should be removed and the fish broken into coarse flakes.

NEW ENGLAND FISH CHOWDER

For the popular New England fish chowder, simply add an equal volume of milk to the basic recipe, permitting the milk to heat thoroughly but not allowing it to boil. With this New England chowder many cook like to serve Boston chowder crackers, some of which may be added to the chowder itself, immediately before serving.

MANHATTAN CHOWDER

A recent variation is the Conny Island or Manhattan fish chowder. This is obtained by adding hot water or fish stock, together with sliced tomato, chopped green pepper, celery etc., as desired, to the general chowder recipe. Any of the three chowders mentioned is at its appetizing best only when served piping hot.

In considering chowders we cannot overlook the delicious ones made with shellfish. This recipe for New England clam chowder varies slightly from the one above in that somewhat larger proportion of milk is used.

NEW ENGLAND CLAM CHOWDER

- 1/2 lb. salt pork, diced.
- 2 medium-sized onions, sliced.
- 3 cups diced potatoes.
- 2 cups boiling water.
- 1/2 tsp. salt.
- 1/2 tsp. pepper.
- 1 quart clams, chopped.
- 1 quart milk.
- 2 tbsp. butter.
- Flour crackers.

Cook salt pork in large saucepan until crisp on all sides. Add onions and cook 3 minutes. Add potatoes, salt and pepper, and water. Cover and cook 10 minutes. Add clams with liquor, milk and butter, and cook until potatoes are tender, about 10 minutes. Arrange crackers in hot soup plates and pour chowder over them.

Note—Soft-shelled clams or equal parts of hard and soft clams may be used. If soft-shelled clams are used, the hard portions may be chopped and cooked with the potatoes.

42 Grace Moore, Pinza Brilliant in 'Three Kings'

By LEO GAFFNEY

Italo Montemezzi's "The Love of Three Kings," first produced when the century was younger and Boston had an opera company of its own, was revived at the Metropolitan last night with the composer in the conductor's chair.

Indubitably influenced by "Tristan" and the trend to Music Drama rather than by the aria-studded works of the Veridian school, "Three Kings" has never been popular.

It fell just short of selling out last night, in spite of Grace Moore as the "name" star, the presence of the composer in the pit, a creditably massive looking production on the stage and the solid artistry of Ezio Pinza as the old blind king.

The available seats, however, were all in the $6 section. The rest of the Metropolitan's engagement at the Metropolitan Theater is reported sold out.

Although, probably, the New Yorkers won't put it on again in a hurry, the Montemezzi opera is decidedly well worth doing, and we are indebted to Mr. Johnson and his associates for affording us a look at it after all these years.

The plot, which plays much better than it sounds in the telling, seems a compound of "Tristan," "Othello" and "Romeo and Juliet." A great stone castle of the Middle Ages sets its scene. And the argument is of tragic love, like Tristan's, dramatically heightened by an Othello-style strangling of the heroine and a poison-at-the-bier finale, like Romeo's.

Only, the Montemezzi tragedy has a three-way stretch. Because his son's wife is carrying on with another prince, the blind old king chokes his erring daughter-in-law to death. To catch the interloper the patriarchal monarch coats the dead girl's lips with poison—thinking that this illicit lover will come to the catastrophe for a last cold kiss.

The trap works only too well. It catches lover and husband both. And the curtains close in for the last time as the old king makes his horrifying discovery. And the music ends in an abrupt crash.

The score is pretty much unrelieved somberness, particularly in the first two acts, which makes it so hard to take. It does not dent the imagination nor haunt the mind. The third and last act, the shortest, seems the best. In it there is some lovely choral writing for divided choirs mourning the dead beauty—laid out impressively center stage. The music the heartbroken and temporarily surviving lover sings at this point ("O, Silent Flora!") is of piercing power.

Grace Moore, as Flora, was in excellent voice, lending the role unlooked for force and feminine appeal. Mr. Pinza was, as always, the bulwark of the performance. Blind and tottering old men on the stage are often ridiculous, like the average Polonius. Pinza's portrait of the aged monarch was warm, convincing, majestic.

Not so much may be said for the other two kings, Richard Bonelli and Charles Kullman, as husband and lover respectively. Both were in good vocal trim, but Mr. Kullman, particularly, overacted desperately, not an easy pitfall to escape in view of the circumstances.

Socialites Greet Opera Stars at Luncheon

BOSTON'S OPERA FANS had an opportunity yesterday to meet many of their favorite singers face to face at the luncheon given by the Metropolitan Opera Guild and the Boston Opera Ass'n at the Copley-Plaza.

Mrs. August Belmont of New York, Mr. Wallace Goodrich of Boston and Edward Johnson, general manager of the Metropolitan Opera, presided at the long head table where about 25 of the company's leading singers lunched in full view of the large gathering. Each star was introduced by Mr. Johnson and stood up to make a bow, and at the end of the affair such well loved singers as Lauritz Melchior and Kristin Thorborg were besieged for autographs. Among the many fashionable luncheon guests were Mrs. Wallace Goodrich, Mrs. Daniel de Menocal, Mrs. Samuel Warren, Mrs. George Saltmstead West, Mrs. Basil Gavin, Miss Katharine Cunningham, Miss Gray, Mrs. John H. Russell, Mrs. A. L. West, Mrs. Mary, Mrs. Gorman Brooks and Mr. Allan Forbes. As a pleasant ... entertainment during the dessert course, John Browning, assistant tenor, and Salvatore Baccioni, the new and popular baritone, presented a comic scene from "Don Pasquale." They were accompanied on the piano by an assistant conductor of the Metropolitan orchestra.

REPETITION makes most everything lose a little of its individuality and brilliance, but this is not true of the two-fold spectacle presented each evening during Boston's opera season which went into its eighth performance at the Metropolitan Theater last evening . . .

Socialites continue to contribute their share of the brilliance by appearing in different costumes from their well stocked wardrobes . . . and last night the opera was a much anticipated revival of "The Love of Three Kings," starring Grace Moore . . .

Movie fans, music lovers and society rubbed elbows in the huge throng which turned out to welcome the lovely movie and opera diva . . . A glance from one end of the huge marble foyer to the other during intermission revealed a number of outstanding gowns . . . such as the emerald green taffeta worn by Mrs. Dean Parkinson . . . It was fashioned with a full skirt edged with a deep hem of matching green velvet outlined with gold, and over it Dodo wore a long purple ostrich cape . . . She attended with her mother, Mrs. James Dean, whose black gown was lavishly trimmed with sparkling sequins . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Wolcott attended with their sub-deb daughter Helen, who wore a shell pink tulle gown with tiny diamond earrings . . . Mrs. Wolcott sported her sumptuous chinchilla cape over a striking gown made of diagonal stripes of black, cherry and silver . . . Freedley-Sears Ceremony In Chestnut Hill Tomorrow

SINCE HIS ARRIVAL by plane on Wednesday, Vinton Freedley, Jr., son of the well known Broadway producer, has hardly had time to check up to make sure he brought his ascot tie and pearl gray gloves . . . for his arrival was the signal for a whirl of partying in honor of his wedding tomorrow to blonde Nancy Sears of Chestnut Hill.

The couple were guests of honor at a dinner party given in the Ballroom of the Hotel Somerset Wednesday evening by Betsy Cooper and Jane Nelson.

Last evening, the partying continued with a dinner given by Vinton's usher staff, and tonight tomorrow's bride and bridegroom will be toasted at separate parties. Vinton will entertain his ushers, and Nancy Nye of Chestnut Hill is giving a party for the bride.

Presiding the afternoon ceremony in the First Parish Church of Weston tomorrow, Nancy and Vinton and their attendants will be feted at a luncheon given by Virginia Froot of Chestnut Hill.

Following the ceremony the newlyweds will welcome their wedding guests at a reception at the Weston Country Club. Nancy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winslow Sears and a popular debutante of two winters past.

Para-Fenway Comedy Real Hit

Putting to work his exceptional flair for getting the most laughs out of a comedy situation, Harold Lloyd, in "A Girl, A Guy and A Gob," his first producing chore, has turned out a swift and sure comedy.

Now showing on the Paramount and Fenway screens, the George Murphy-Lucille Ball-Edmond O'Brien starring attraction has all the earmarks of a box-office hit. Written by the late Grover Jones, the story serves principally as a skeleton on which to drape the Lloyd talent vicariously, O'Brien, playing a retiring, self-effacing young shipping tycoon, is reminiscent of the Harold Lloyd of earlier screen roles.

PLENTY OF LAUGHS

As the story progresses, the lissom Lucille Ball becomes O'Brien's secretary and George Murphy is introduced as her sailor sweetheart. Gradually, the bashful O'Brien is transformed under the daily influence of the ebullient Miss Ball.

And so, when the gob deserts the girl for an extended engagement in the Navy, O'Brien wins her.

"A Girl, A Guy and A Gob" is a pushover for laughs, and so expertly has it been put together that it should serve as Exhibit A for the boys who think you can toss everything including the kitchen-sink into a slapstick comedy and extract Grade-A chuckles.

Some of the funnier sequences are centered around Lucille Ball's wacky household which would seem to bear some resemblance to the Broadway comedy hit, "My Sister Ellen," and its unfailing welcome for the Navy.

PERFECTLY CAST

Miss Ball is perfectly cast as the girl, Murphy's happy-go-lucky sailor in an excellent comedy job and O'Brien's stuffy, business-like man turned human is another happy portrayal.

In "Scotland Yard," the co-feature, a charming gentleman-bank robber literally steals a missing banker's face to plot the greatest robbery in history. The locale is bomb-cracked, blacked-out London and the stars are John Lodan, Edmund Gwenn and Nancy Kelly. P. D.

Cagney, Hayden Top Uptown Bill

Uptown's screen features are "Strawberry Blonde," teaming James Cagney, Olivia de Havilland and Rita Hayworth, and "Virginia," which introduces Boston's own screen star, Stirling Hayden, in a stunning technicolor drama in company with Madeleine Carroll and Fred MacMurray.

KAY FRANCIS co-stars with Randolph Scott in "When the Daltons Rode," film feature at the Gayety.

Western Epic At Gayety

The old West of the Daltons' era, circa 1882, is the locale for the Gayety Theater's new screen attraction, "When the Daltons Rode," co-starring Randolph Scott and Kay Francis.

Starting today on the Gayety screen, "When the Daltons Rode," based on the book of the same name, reaches a climax with the historic raid on Coffeyville, Kan., when the notorious marauders staged the early West's only double bank robbery.

Miss Francis portrays the real-life sweetheart of Bob Dalton, Brian Donlevy. Broderick Crawford, Stuart Erwin and Frank Albertson are cast as the Dalton brothers. Scott is cast as a frontier lawyer who befriends them.

The second feature, "Design for Murder," has been adapted from a play by Reginald Denham and Edward Percy, authors of last season's Broadway stage hit, "Ladies in Retirement."

Fine Arts Shows Napoleon Film

The Fine Arts Theater today presents the British-made production, "The Private Life of Napoleon and Josephine," which co-stars Pierre Blanchar in his first English speaking role, and stage and screen star, Ruth Chatterton.

The picture spans a little more than a decade and is said to afford Blanchar ample opportunities to demonstrate his brilliant acting ability.

Originally chosen for the role because of his dramatic skill and not so much because of any physical resemblance, other members of the cast were amazed at the actor's amazing likeness to familiar pictures of Napoleon when he first strode onto the set costumed as the ambitious 26-year-old General Bonaparte.

Blanchar, incidentally, studied acting with America's favorite French actor, Charles Boyer.

Rose Marie Headlines Gay Stage Bill at RKO Boston

"Rose Marie, I Love You," is the theme song at the RKO Boston these days, where the striking brunette who not so long ago was Baby Rose Marie heads the new spotlight show.

Rose Marie can sing hot and sweet, and she's back in town by popular request after another headline spot at the Boston just a few weeks ago. Her songs are "You're a Lucky Fellow, Mr. Smith," "Night-Ingale Sang in Berkeley Square," "Shine," and for a finale that's terrific, "Moon Over the Ocean," half in Italian and half in English. That number's a real novelty.

Gene Sheldon, trickster in pantomime, has lovely Linda Preston as his obliging stooge. Gene is still playing the old banjo, sewing up his fingers and going over with a bang in an act that's a sure laugh-getter.

Opening the four-day bill are George Costello's Canines, assorted pooches that make up like Mae West and Scarlett O'Hara and can even manage a rumba. Smith, Rogers and Eddy are two boys and a girl who can do things with comedy and also tap dance routines. The Six Grays offer a smash closing in their song and dance melange. There are five pretty charmers and one lone man, the lucky fellow, and they go from Loch Lomond to cowboy with the greatest of ease.

On the screen, "Footlight Fever," with Alan Mowbray in the top role, is one of the new features. It is paired with Jack London's famous story, "Sign of the Wolf."

Gala Midnight Show at Howard

"Speedsters Burlesquers" is being featured at the Old Howard midnight show tonight, starting at 11:30 o'clock. In the cast of 60 people will be seen Marian Miller, Roxanne, Charles Kemper, Dick Richards, George Haggerty, Jean Lee, Carol King, Beth Calvert and Elva Canastrelly, Mace and Whalen, Joan Randal, Paula and Ernestine, Jess Mack.

The most charming, combustible, unpredictable Smiths you'll ever meet are now tenanted Keith Memorial screen, where Britain's round and brilliant Alfred Hitchcock's first American comedy, "Mr. and Mrs. Smith," is unreeling.

Written by Norman Krasna, "Mr. and Mrs. Smith" is no world-beater of a comedy but Hitchcock's first-rate direction and the straight-faced playing of co-stars Carole Lombard and Robert Montgomery contrive to make it most beguiling entertainment — sophisticated, not screwball comedy.

There's an "Awful Truth" flavor about the script but not in the acting nor direction, which presents the Smiths at their funniest when they are most serious.

David and Ann, successful young Park ave. lawyer and his spirited, intelligent wife, have made a marriage pact to avoid serious quarrels. Rule 1 is that when they have an argument both must stay in the bedroom until the affair is settled. Ann, who has been married before, has determined to fight it out if it takes nine days "like the last time" or nine years. Smith's law office hastily gets cases postponed, married clients are unable to get unhitched, invitations go unanswered and dates are broken without explanation, the while Smith's power, or rant, or just feelings, dominate.

Nice thing about the picture is that though the situations seem terribly funny to you, to the Smiths, otherwise Lombard and Montgomery, it is all as world-serious as though it were happening to you and your Jonathan. They never try to "kill" you and so they do repeatedly.

The uncivil warfare in the Smith ménage stems from David's sudden discovery that, because of a legal technicality, their marriage of three years is null and void and Ann's rage (she has secretly learned about it at the same time) when David, letting his sense of humor get the better of him, delays telling her and asking her hand in marriage.

Lombard, one of Hollywood's finest comedienne and all-around actresses, is an ideal Ann Smith. When she gets infuriated, you never doubt it and her wit always spices a performance. Montgomery, whose acting sometimes is a bit too glib, rises to the occasion and gives a portrayal worthy of Missus Smith's contribution.

And you may be surprised that the brown-haired, rather stuffy "other man and best friend" is the ex-blonde glamourboy, Gene Raymond. Nice but unexciting. Lucille Watson and Philip Merivale, as Raymond's old-fashioned parents, are excellent.

Everybody is waiting through the second feature, "Vivacious Lady," revived after a big nation-wide buildup because it co-stars the two 1940 Academy Award winners, Ginger Rogers and James Stewart. In addition to this double feature screen program, there is to be a Hollywood "sneak preview" of a picture not yet released at the Keith Memorial tonight at 9.

IT WAS a forgone conclusion that Adel (Lovely) Smith-Mason-Brenton would marry Kenneth Juelton as soon as she divorced Larry Brenton.

Lovely had married Larry a week after she divorced Paul, her first husband, thus setting a pattern that would go on until Lovely quit marrying, an eventuality that certain sections of the Press fervently hoped was a long way away.

Just to be sure that her third marriage would go off—or go on—according to schedule, Kenneth had left New York for Reno a week after Lovely established her residence there in accordance with the law that no seeker of divorce may get one unless he or she has been a resident of Nevada for at least six weeks.

And, somehow or other, the newspapers knew that Lovely would marry Kenneth so a Reno photographer was all set to take their picture together on the day her decreed was handed her. That picture would make most of the newspapers and all of the news weekly magazines and, possibly the picture magazines also.

A girl has to look out for such details when she is, like Lovely, was, in the public eye. Lovely was an American princess, unroyal, it is true, but most glamorous and attractive. She had everything, family, millions, a will of iron and enough beauty to be a screen star. She had her own public.

She came laughing out of the Washoe County Court House in Reno with her decree in her hand on a day in early March. The sun caught in her tawny hair and brought out the Florida tan of her complexion. The wind whipped her short skirt against her lovely legs. The brown earth, overlaid by a thin film of alkali dust, found its own color in her eyes.

Kenneth laughed with her as he leaned over her hand. He was tall and tanned and athletic, very much Alken and Palm Beach. And Bill Eytan, free lance news photographer, laughed because he wanted to get that picture.

Lovely led the way down the court house steps and along Virginia avenue until she came to the bridge over the little Truckee River. And here she stopped with Kenneth beside her. Bill Eytan ran on a little ahead, turning his camera in one hand. He turned quickly as the girl looked over the railing at the turbulent little stream.

ON THE SPOT

"I suppose this is the place for the ceremony," she said.

"You're right on the spot," Bill Eytan grinned. "Hold it a minute, Mrs. —" He stopped because he picture showing how cheaply she considers marriage—and herself."

Lovely felt herself grow icy with rage. "A Bolshevik, a foreigner I see," she smiled. "You'll find them any place these days."

"No, Madam," the man smiled. "I'm not a Bolshevik. I'm not even a New Dealer. I've always believed that a man should get what he earned and no more. I'm just an American. My people were over here functioning when your great grandfather, the one who helped steal millions with his railroads, was just an immigrant."

"Kenneth," Lovely ordered imperiously, "this man is insulting me. Punish him."

Kenneth more bewildered than ever, took a half step forward.

"I wouldn't, if I were you, Mr. Juelton," the man said. "If you lay a hand on me, I'll have to throw you into the river. And a woman like this one isn't worth it." He turned and walked away, not hurriedly and not slowly. He just moved away.

"Oh, now Lovely," Kenneth protested, "why did you precipitate such a scene? That man wasn't harming anybody."

It was at that instant that Lovely decided that she would never marry before. He seated them and he called a waiter and he left them with the murmured hope that they would find everything satisfactory. As he walked away, Kenneth said,

"I say, isn't that the Bolshevik who read you the riot act in Reno? I say, I think we should inform the management. A man like that might put dynamite in the rolls or cyanide in the ash. You never can tell what such a chap might do."

AN INSOLENT MAN

Lovely vetoed the suggestion and sent for him when they had been there about an hour.

"What do you do with those views you aired yesterday while you are working in this citadel of the idle rich?" she asked.

"Check 'em," he grinned. "When I'm working my thoughts aren't my own. My job is to make people comfortable."

"Yes? And now what are your views on a woman who throws her wedding ring into the Truckee to signalize that she has finished with a marriage?"

"That what a lady does with her private life is no concern of the head waiter of Tahoe Inn," he replied, "even when she doesn't keep it private."

She looked him over from his head to his toes and there was a time as they had been in his of the Virginia ave. bridge.

"You may go," she told him. "You have a name, I suppose. What is it?"

"Thomas, Madam."

"Thomas what?"

"Thomas is sufficient for a head waiter."

Again, as he walked away, she felt the sting of his insolence and contempt. She got up abruptly and demanded that Kenneth take her out of the place. But that didn't seem to help. She became more restless and unpredictable. Their plans had been to stop at the Inn over night and then go on to San Francisco. But now she developed a certain passion for the lake itself. She wouldn't budge from the place.

Kenneth went on. He had business and social engagements in San Francisco. He left her with the understanding that they would meet within the week. In fact, at the end of four days he received a telegram. It read:

"You remember Thomas, Stop. I married him today. Stop. I don't know what got into me. Stop. But I found I couldn't live without him. Stop. Please forgive me. Stop. Adel."

realized that Lovely was between husbands.

Lovely laughed again because she realized his predicament.

"That's right," she said. "I've left my latest married name in there," she gestured toward the court house, "and this completes that marriage." With these words, she very ostentatiously pulled her wedding ring from her finger and dropped it into the river.

Bill snapped the shutter as her head went forward and he took another picture as she and Kenneth gazed down to where the ring had disappeared.

"Oh me!" Lovely sighed and looked up.

Her smile died slowly. Her brown eyes hardened and her jaw set. A man was staring at her, contempt in his eyes. He was quite an ordinary looking man of about average height. His shoulders were wide. His face was unremarkable with the usual blue eyes, and a straight mouth, a little thin-lipped.

"What are you staring at?" she demanded, a little surprised at herself for caring. She was used to being stared at. The man didn't answer. His glare fell away from her and dropped down to the water.

"I asked you what you were staring at," Lovely repeated and moved toward him. Kenneth, a little startled, moved after her and Bill, sensing a situation, turned another film into place.

"JUST AN AMERICAN"

The man looked up. "I was staring at you," he admitted calmly. "It isn't illegal. Maybe my thoughts were but I don't have to tell them to you."

"What were they?" Lovely demanded.

"Well, remember you asked for me," the man said. "I was just thinking that with this world full of war, a beautiful rich woman had little to do to pose for a cynical

Kenneth Juelton. She knew it was vulgar to wish to see the man punished but she wanted to see him slugged, beaten into a pulp. She said nothing, however. She walked on across the bridge to her hotel and into the elevator without a word, leaving Kenneth in the lobby.

When she got to her apartment, she sat down on the couch and thought about the man. He was such an ordinary looking thing, she remembered, one of those individuals you see and forget because he is so like millions of others. So why did she want to see him again. She did. She wanted to see him more than she had wanted to see anybody in her life.

But there was no chance of seeing him again. He probably had dropped into Reno some time that day. Now he would go away again. It was just as well. Heeding the opinions of such people made for unpleasantness.

Thus she dismissed the whole encounter. But it occurred to her again as she woke next morning. She lay in bed after she had ordered her breakfast and wondered again who the man might be. It did no good to tell herself that the man and his opinions and his insolence all were unimportant. She couldn't get away from the wish to meet him again.

She met him for the second time at Lake Tahoe, where she had gone to rest for a few days and listen to Kenneth tell her how much he loved her and why. She saw him as she stepped into the Tahoe Inn late at night to dance and drink a highball or two. He was the head waiter.

He looked as nondescript in his evening clothes as he had when she first saw him. He was even less to be admired because he had lost his air of independence. Now he was merely obsequious and suave. He led her and Kenneth to a ringside table with no hint that he had ever seen either of them

Bicarb-Pepped Goldfish Dies

KANSAS CITY, April 4 (AP)—Nutz, the temperamental goldfish that bathed in bicarbonate of soda to stay alive, has passed on to clearer waters.

Several months ago, Nutz appeared ready to kick up his fins. His owner, Miss Mary Graham Minor, tried many remedies—but Nutz remained pale.

As a last resort, bicarbonate of soda was dropped in his bowl. Color returned to Nutz's gills.

But he suffered a relapse. Six times his owner spiked the water with each dose. When Miss Minor was called from the room yesterday, Nutz died.

It must have been something he ate.

LAST RITES FOR JOHN J. MAGUIRE

Funeral services for John J. Maguire, of 100 Farewell st., Brighton, veteran member of the Boston American-Record-Advertiser art department, will be held Monday with a solemn high mass of requiem in St. Columbkille's church, at 9 o'clock.

Mr. Maguire died yesterday at the Cardinal O'Connell House of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, following an illness of five months. Mr. Maguire began his newspaper career 37 years ago on the first day of publication of the Boston American, and continued in the employ of the Hearst newspapers up to the day of his death.

His father died when Mr. Maguire was a boy and the son had to contribute to the support of his family. He started as an office boy and, a few years ago, was honored as one of a group who entered the service at the bottom and scored a conspicuous success.

His colleagues termed him a fine artist and his landscapes had been used to illustrate several books. In 1920, he was placed in charge of the Boston American art department. In 1934 he was married to the former Mary Keough, of Watertown, who survives him.

The dead artist is also survived by a brother, James, superintendent at the Watertown hospital, two sisters, Mrs. Neil McGinley and Mrs. Henry Brown, and his mother, Mrs. Hannah Maguire.

Launch Campaign To Save Forests

Thoughtlessness to tragedy... put out your cigarettes!

A LITTLE-PUBLICIZED front-line of America's national defense today is its timber land.

Yet how carelessly Americans waste this wealth, now doubly important in the manufacture of war materials such as wood charcoal and filterpaper for gas masks, spruce and plastic for planes, cellulose for high explosives, wood wool for clothing.

Forest fires alone account for damage of $40,000,000 in the United States each year, according to a less an authority than U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Claude B. Wickard.

Secretary Wickard, writing in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with this coming Boston Sunday Advertiser, appeals to every American "to take every precaution" against setting the woods afire and thus adding to this national calamity.

In connection with this campaign to save our forests, Earle H. Clapp, acting Chief of the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture, tells you the story of forest defense today, and how you can help.

Symbolizing this appeal, the distinguished artist, James Montgomery Flagg, has given us a striking painting, which you will find reproduced in full color. You'll see it soon on 300,000 posters to be distributed throughout the country by the Government.

YOU'VE PROBABLY been reading of this critic and that, who promises if he's wrong he'll "eat his words."

Well, there was once a famed writer who had to do just that. For an engaging feature see Page 2 of The American Weekly tomorrow.

DOES MODERN LIFE lead more quickly to divorce than the sort of existence married couples knew 25 years ago?

Some sociologists insist it does. They point to work-saving household gadgets, to the endless amusements which tempt people out of their homes, to the midge apartments, the smaller number of children per family. Adding it all up, they insist that's the sort of thing which upsets the institution of marriage.

Don't miss this provocative article in The American Weekly Sunday.

WE ALL LIKE the childhood tale of Cinderella.

And though now and then we read about girls who find themselves transported from the ashes of daily toil to the jewels of wealth and luxury, they rarely have the genuine Cinderella atmosphere about them.

He had to eat his own words!

However, you'll find a story that's really authentic in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with this coming Boston Sunday Advertiser.

FOR ELEVEN WEEKS Cap'n Dave Landers, one of the last of the romantic Clipper skippers, has been spinning his yarns of the days when the sailing boats ruled the seven seas.

This Sunday Cap'n Landers spins his 12th and last, and what a story it is! Full of strange terrors of the deep, of sea monsters and legends, of mermaids and the tale of the Saragasso Sea, graveyard of many a brave schooner.

Don't miss this Sunday.

Something different in recipes awaits the American Weekly reader tomorrow. It is a collection of special dishes contributed by a woman cook on a Nevada ranch, entitled, "Varied Vittles for Hungry Cowboys." Included are directions for making Garbanzos, Vascongado, Texas Hash, Salad a la Cazajous and Paato Shuta.

At the same time, Mrs. Christine Frederick, the noted household authority, discloses how to plan closet space when you're in a small apartment or large.

These are but some of the features awaiting you in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with this coming Boston Sunday advertiser.

TABOR VS. SOX CASE BAFFLES JOURNALISTIC DETECTIVES

By HERB FINNEGAN

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 4—Hark to the strange case of James Reuben Tabor, quondam third baseman of the Boston Red Sox.

The Tabe has been enjoying his second sabbatical week of the six weeks old spring training campaign for having wassailed too long on the boat ride back from Cuba.

He has not been fined; he has not been suspended. Joe Cronin is non-committal on the topic except to say that he will continue to experiment with Sammy Hale at third base until such time as Tabor learns the Sox are running no kindergarten.

The fact that Joe Cronin relented again and inserted Tabor in the lineup late in the game at Ft. Benning, and the fact Jim's double with the bases loaded clinched the game is beside the point. He had been traveling with his mates on equal social terms, taking a hand in the 5-and-10 games and sharing the same chairs in the lobby.

Here is the question of the day: If Tabor has kicked over the traces twice already this spring, why isn't it to be expected that he will do it a third time and a fourth? His past record would seem to warrant that guess.

And if the worst "punishment" he has received has been to take a much sought for rest, what will keep the other ball players from wassailing themselves when they want a couple of days off to go fishing or to attend their grandmother's funeral?

Unless it is digging coal down in one of Mike Ryba's mines, there is nothing so tedious as baseball, day in and day out, sleeper jumps, bag-toting, noon practice at the ball park, a seven-day week, etc.

If you don't think the players appreciate a day off once in a while you ought to hear them making plans already for the three-day layoff they will get in July when the all-star game is played.

If that three-day layoff is manna from heaven to them, what about the dog days of August, when double-headers are almost the daily routine?

And if the only way they can get a day off is to emulate Tabor, don't you think they will resort to his methods? If you don't, you don't know your ball players.

Perhaps Cronin is handling the case wisely. The season has not started. Tabor's loss in a few exhibition games cannot harm the club to any great extent, and gives Sammy Hale a chance to improve his throwing

Perhaps Cronin has already decided to get rid of his 1941 problem child, for he did say in Sarasota on Tabor's first kick-up:

"I'm sick and tired losing sleep over the guy; if he loses his job he may be the one to lose the sleep."

It is worthy of note that first baseman Paul Campbell is making the trip north with the club.

Cronin won't talk, but he may have in mind taking rookie first baseman Al Flair back from Baltimore, playing Jimmie Foxx at third base and giving Campbell to the Orioles.

Flair is the 6-4 towhead whose batting was a revelation during the Sarasota stay. He's a left-handed stick and thrower, and one day seems certain to take rank with the great hitters in the game.

Campbell has played two seasons with Louisville and may be acceptable to the Orioles. If not, Campbell could be returned to Louisville and Ulysses Lupien, now stationed there, could be switched to Baltimore.

It was Lupien Baltimore wanted in the first place, anyway.

At any rate, the strange case of James Reuben Tabor has all the journalistic detectives baffled.

But Mr. Cronin is at error when he figures ol' Tabe thinks the Sox are running a kindergarten.

Anybody who has enjoyed the nocturnal company of the steel-jawed Alabaman, as has the writer, would know that. It's no child's play with Jim.

What you get for what you pay is usually the foremost consideration to any purchase. For that reason we're going to skip the flippancy today to tell you just what you get in a Pembroke Suit in the hope of doing you some good in time for Easter. To begin with, Pembroke Suits are built to Filene's specifications and styled by a man who learned his craft as a fine custom tailor. He has merely applied his custom tailoring theories to the assembly line just as more than one maker of fine cars has done. His shops are said to be among the most intelligently operated in the industry. They are located in New England . . . in fact within 30 miles of Boston. His needleworkers are as nifty a crew as you'll find anywhere and the fabrics they work with are, for the most part, loomed locally in our fine New England mills. These are facts you can check on when, and if, you choose to, in our Men's Store. UNWANTED PLAYER WINS FOR BRUINS

Hill's Final Period Goal Drops Leafs

Out of 60 thrill packed, tingling hockey minutes, Boston's forgotten right winger, Melvin Hill, blazed back along glory road in the role of a center to fire the shot that dropped Toronto out of Series A and drove the Bruins into the Stanley Cup finals.

Washed up and headed for hockey oblivion, the "Sudden Death" kid of two years ago whistled home a playoff goal and set up the other in a 2 to 1 victory that ended a bitter seven-game struggle for the right to meet Detroit in the quest of a battered "mug."

And the battle to prevent elimination last night was a clash that dripped of drama and action.

Fierce checking, near fist fights, two majors, gory slashes that required stitching of Langelie and Jackson, Connie Smythe's attack on Referee Mickey Ion and a wind-up that saw the Leafs play the last 28 seconds without a goalie just touched the highlights of a game that had everything.

Yet these sparkling moments are more incidents compared to the story of Mel Hill, who, but for a queer twist of fate might have been playing for Hershey last night.

JUST A SPECTATOR

Disappointing in his play all season, Hill was shunted to Hershey once and was sent away again early last month, but had to be recalled when it was learned that he had been dropped too late to be eligible for Hershey's playoff games.

So back he came. He seldom played. In fact he didn't even dress for the fourth game of this series with Leafs.

And if it hadn't been for a desperate move on the part of the Bruins to try Mel at center Tuesday, the forgotten right-winger would have been a spectator last night.

Instead, he turned in a great game and came back again to blast home that goal that made him the talk of the town.

CAROOM SHOT

He was a factor in both goals. After Bucko McDonald had opened the scoring by taking a Langelie passout and sending a long screen shot by Brimsek at 13:28 in the first period, Mel wheeled into action.

The Bruins put on a power play and in came Hill to grab the puck while the Leafs were trying desperately to clear. He saw Wiseman

FOILED—Herb Cain tries to clear the puck to Terry Reardon but Wally Stanowski, Toronto's defenseman, ties up Herbie nicely. The SPEED-RAY shows Goalie Turk Broda as an interested spectator during the melee behind the strings. The Cain-Reardon-Jackson line just missed scoring a half dozen times during the Bruins 2-1 win over Toronto.

BRUINS MEET DETROIT WINGS HERE SUNDAY

Connie Smythe Takes Hat Off to Dit Clapper

The first game of the Stanley Cup finals against Detroit will be here Sunday night . . . the Bruins' dressing room was jammed to the doors with well wishers after the game . . . all was quiet in Room 4, the Leafs' quarters . . . the fans didn't clear the Garden until an hour after the game.

Just a minute before Hill scored his winning goal, Drillon missed connections by a whisker. The big Leafs' wing, who has scored 20 playoff goals came in alone and had Brimsek beaten. He blazed a shot that hit the goal post and skidded around outside the net. A roar went up and even Brimsek thought the puck was in the net. With head bowed, he turned looking for the plug and was surprised to see it in scrimmage off the side of the strings.

Brimsek played a whale of a game. He was particularly great during the last 23 seconds when Broda went off and the Leafs pressed with six men.

In the dressing room, Frankie said: "Those last 20 seconds were the longest I ever spent."

Bill Tower, loyal Bruins' rooter who made both Toronto trips, pleaded with the players to grab that seventh game for him as it was his 40th birthday. Bill took the victory as a personal triumph . . . Every member on the Bruins was tickled that Hill scored the winning goal for Mel is exceptionally well liked.

Bobby Bauer, who'll never take a back seat to anybody for courage, played with his shoulder in a special harness . . . Bill Cowley was the happiest of them all, and is trying to figure out how he'll be able to get back for the coming series . . . It was an impressive sight to see both clubs forget the bitter feeling and battling that has characterized all seven games and congratulate each other after the game was over . . . The highlight came when Connie Smythe rushed on the ice, shook hands with all the Bruins and save Clapper until the end. Before he reached Dit, Connie took off his chapeau in respect and tossed it on the ice. It was a swell gesture. Dit picked up the hat, tried it on and skated off the ice with it as the crowd roared.

Even Art Ross and Connie Smythe temporarily forgot their hard feelings to shake . . . in the Leafs' dressing room, Connie later looked at his downcast squad and said:

"Cheer up gang, you were and great hockey team. I still beaten by a swell bunch of guys think you're a great club and there's another year coming."

An odd thing about this series has been that in the last six games, the team that scored first lost . . . Mickey Ion worked three of the clashes and the Bruins won every time he was on the ice. Yet the fans hate Ion and was booed as loudly as ever when he made his first appearance.

Four Bruin rooters, who figured that their good luck telegram won the Tuesday game in Toronto, posted a huge sign under box 56 telling the Bruins that they could do it again . . . The Leafs had plenty of chances to win the game but Brimsek was at his best . . . this victory means at least $500 extra to each of the Bruins . . . in the second period, Smythe and Wetland started pulling off lines and showing new men on in an effort to outsmart each other. Cooney finally won his point.

Ex-Stars Of N. H. L. Face Pics

By SAM BROGNA

Headed by a quartet of former National Hockey League players, St. Jerome, of Quebec, makes its first of two appearances here at the Garden tonight engaging the Boston Olympics in an exhibition series.

They'll play again tomorrow night in what will be the Pics final game of the season.

Walter Brown has drawn a most noteworthy opponent in this group of Canadians for a final opponent, St. Jerome not only boasts of one of the finest and fastest amateur teams across the border but the presence of four former N. H. L. athletes has made it a formidable six.

Only recently, they were knocked out of the Allen Cup play by the Montreal Royals in the semifinals. Last year, they eliminated Sherbrooke, winners of the now defunct Provincial League of which the Olympics participated in.

Of the four former major leaguers, best known to Hub fans is Johnnie Gagnon, who last year played with Les Canadiens. Prior to this, Johnnie held down one of the wing berths for the Bruins.

Another former Bruin is George Brown, who was with the Boston six but for a short time before going to Hershey late in the season. The other N. H. L. players are Rod Lorrain and Paul Raymond, both former Les Canadiens.

Manlapig Gets Go With Angel

An ambition he has cherished since he was a small boy on the beaches of his native Philippine Islands may at last be realized by Pantaleon Manlapig, tanned and muscular Filipino, when he meets The Angel for world's heavyweight wrestling championship next Wednesday night at the Arena. Manlapig, since his arrival here several months ago, has met everyone offered as an opponent and he has beaten them all. Some of them went down before his wide variety of holds swifter than they succumbed to The Angel.

Another highlight which tickled the fancy of the huge Thursday gallery was a family performance turned in by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sawyer of Northboro and daughters, Virginia, 24, and Connie, 28. The two girls fell slightly below the exceptional marks of a year ago, which lifted them into third place in the women's doubles.

The real heavy tournament sessions open today and the competition will continue at a scorching pace tomorrow and throughout the second full week, which starts off Monday.

Mr. BOSTON

By JACK CONWAY

I HAVE A suggestion to offer which I believe would make the A. A. U. boxing championships an even greater success than they were at the Garden this week.

I would first adopt Gene Driscoll's plan for regional championships. Under this arrangement 72 of the leading amateur boxers in the United States instead of 150 boxers would come here for the title battles. They would be the pick of the nation's simon-pure leather pushers, and each would have the necessary ability to go in and battle any other champion.

This system would keep mediocre boxers out of the tournament. It would result in better bouts and at the same time it would reduce the danger of injuries.

Then I would make a revolutionary change in the program of the title bouts. The 72 champions could be sent into action on the first night of the show. These title holders would furnish blazing action and when the final blow had been delivered some of them might require a few stitches in wounds as was the case with Rodie O'Dooley, Steamboat Springs, Col., heavyweight.

My suggestion calls for the semi-finals and finals to be staged a week after the opening bouts. This would give the boxers an opportunity to have their injuries and bruises properly attended to after which they could do the necessary training for the second show. By this plan you would get more stirring action and superior boxing in the semi-finals and finals.

The boxers would be freshened up by their week of rest, and would be at the peak of their form when they entered the ring.

The public would also appreciate such a program. There would be capacity crowds at each show.

With three nights of boxing, the fans take their share of punishment. The long program has caused many fans to pass up one or two nights of the tournament.

There was a fair sized crowd on the opening night of the title bouts. The tired fans rested at home in many cases on the second night, while the big turnout was on the third and final night of the title bouts.

The cost of keeping the winning boxers over for a week under my plan would be more than offset by the increased attendance at the two shows. There would be a natural climax.

Boxers are like football players. They cannot be expected to reach emotional heights every time they compete in a three-night tournament. This is why some of the boxers showed such decided reversals of form. The physical strain of a long tournament are too great to expect boxers to remain at the peak of their fighting ability from the opening bout until the last contest is staged.

Referee Johnny Brassill Discusses Boxers

JOHNNY BRASSILL of Cambridge is one of the most able referees in the United States. I was interested to listen to his ringside discussion of the effects of punches on different boxers between bouts at the recent A. A. U. show.

"Punches have a more serious effect on the highly emotional boxer than on the stolid type of athlete," said Brassill. "There are some youngsters who get so keyed up before a boxing show that they have difficulty sleeping the night before the affair."

"High strung boxers like this often are seriously hurt by punches. The stolid boxer takes a heavy punch without showing much effects from it."

"The nervous temperament of a boxer is important when one is trying to decide how he will act under punishment."

From this statement one can realize how nervous boxers must suffer during a three-night tournament. They are in a constant state of mental unrest, and as a consequence they are subjected to greater physical risks when under fire in the ring.

The statistics of boxing prove that ring stars as well as inexperienced novices receive their most serious injuries when they are physically tired. They are unable to ride the punches, and cannot protect themselves properly from the hard smashes of their opponent.

Boxers called upon to sweep into action in shows a week apart would not be subjected to as many mental and physical risks as are true under present conditions.

New England Gains New Ring Glory

NEW ENGLAND gained new ring glory when three of its fistic sons won national titles. Francis Leonard of Taunton, 126 pounds; Dave Andrews of Lowell, 147 pounds, and Jimmy Mulligan of Lowell, 160 pounds proved their class as leather tossers.

Leonard, Andrews and Mulligan had previously shown first class boxing ability in All-America ring shows. I believe each member of the trio displayed vast improvement over their All-America form. New England's amateur boxers keep marching up, and in time many of them will reach the heights in professional boxing.

JOHNNY VANDER MEER
Checks Sox Over Route

Rowell Homers, But Bees Lose

TEXARKANA, Tex., April 4—After holding the Bees to two hits for eight innings, Elden Auker, the submarine hurler, weakened in the 9th but with the tying run on, Johnny Allen went in and struck out Claud Wilborn giving the St. Louis Browns a 7 to 5 victory over the Stengels.

Auker was in mid-season form until the ninth. Bama Rowell nicked him for a home run in the opening round and Johnny Cooney came through with a hit in the seventh. Between Rowell's circuit clout and Cooney's hit, only 13 Bees faced Auker.

Jim Tobin held up his end of a pitching duel with Auker until the seventh inning.

Wes Ferrell finished the game for the Bees.

3 Dog Tracks Given Dates

Wonderland Park, Raynham Park, and Taunton dog tracks, were given licenses to conduct racing for a total of 200 days it was announced by the State Racing Commission.

The Revere Racing Ass'n Inc. was awarded 100 racing dates at Wonderland Park, the same amount as last year while the Massachusetts Greyhound Ass'n at Raynham was allotted 90 racing dates, 25 days less than that of last year.

The Taunton Greyhound Ass'n Inc. was given a license for the first time also for 50 days.

Wonderland's dates will run from June 14 to Aug. 30 and from Sept. 22 to Oct. 30, all dates inclusive. Raynham will run from May 23 to July 19 both dates inclusive, and Taunton will run from July 21 to Aug. 30 and from Sept. 15 to Sept. 30 all dates inclusive.

VANDER MEER HOLDS SOX TO SIX HITS

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 4—Johnny (No-Hit) Vander Meer turned in a six-hit performance to beat our Red Sox, 5 to 1, as he became the first Cincinnati chucker to go nine innings this spring in a drab, featureless fray.

The Reds more than deserved this decision which put them into a 3-4 lead in the series with the Sox. Not only did they get winning pitching, but they combed Fenway flingers Woody Rich and Earl "Lefty" Johnson for 14 blows, half of which were doubles.

Yet the game might still be in progress if it hadn't been for three Boston bloopers.

A poor throw by Sammy Hale handed the world's champions two runs on a platter in the sixth. The seventh found Jim Tabor back on the base.

Then, in the ninth, Pete Fox let a Joost single roll past him to the left field wall and that miscue materially aided the McKeechmen in staging another two run rally.

That the Reds, with all the hitting they did and the help they were given by our side, didn't double their score can be traced to the fact that 13 of them died on the sacks.

The Cronin call couldn't do a thing right, it seemed.

FOXK CAUGHT FLAT-FOOTED.
They had runners on base in seven of the nine stanzas. But only in the sixth could they score, and they tossed away a great opportunity to make that a big inning by dizzy base running.

Pete Fox ushered in the frame by drawing a walk, took third on a single by Jimmy Foxx and counted when Skipper Cronin singled.

Here the Sox got smart, to their sorrow. Double X took a long lead off second and Doerr was signaled to bunt. Bobby missed connections and a Lombardi peg to Joost caught the Beast flat-footed. The rally ended there and then.

Draft Board Trails McCoy

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 4 (INS)—Benny McCoy, who was paid an all-time record amount as a bonus for a free agent ball player when he joined the Philadelphia Athletics, has been mailed his draft questionnaire and faces induction June 1, it was revealed in Grand Rapids today.

McCoy, whose home is in nearby Grandville, was paid a $55,000 bonus by the Athletics and in addition was given a two-year contract calling for $10,000 annually.

Single and 24, McCoy has three dependents but at the same time draft officials asserted he has several brothers who could assume the responsibility for caring for those dependents—his mother and father and one brother.

Roxie Lawson Traded To Montreal Royals

ST. LOUIS, April 4 (INS)—Roxie Lawson, right-handed St. Louis Browns hurler, today became the property of Montreal of the International League as the result of a straight cash deal. With the Browns last year, Lawson won five games and lost three.

PROCITA WINS TWO

Joe Procita, Boston's representative in the pocket billiard championships, defeated Jimmy Caras of Philadelphia in both games played at Shanley's recreation parlors by scores of 125 to

Bees Stronger but Stengel Not Happy

By BILL GRIMES

FORT SMITH, Ark., April 4—"Although I must admit that the Bees are considerably stronger than a year ago," said Manager Casey Stengel, during a conference in his drawing room on our way over here from Texarkana, "I'm still not satisfied with the club.

"We lost a week because of rain, after returning from Mexico. That hurt us. We needed that work, particularly the four games which were washed out. "As to the practice sessions we sat out, I don't know. The field that the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce built for us never did get into shape and never will unless the Mission City boosters spend plenty on it. It seemed to get softer and softer, and the last two days were worked out there it was more like a sandy beach than a ball park.

"I cannot tell you if the Bees will return to San Antonio next spring. You'll have to ask Bob Quinn that question. He's the boss, so he selects the training

'OT EVEN YANKS DRAW

"But I do know that there is plenty of doubt about the Browns going back here. They were very much disappointed over the attendance. And so were we. We'd been led to believe that with two major league clubs competing, the fans would turn out in large numbers. Instead, they stayed at home in larger numbers. I'm not so sure that the Mission City is as baseball minded as the Chamber of Commerce would like to have outsiders believe.

"The New York Yankee-Missions game, which was played last Monday, was a perfect set up to attract capacity club. There's no question but that the Yankees are still the best drawing card in baseball, regardless of the fact that they are no longer the world's champions. The Missions are a young club. It was their first appearance of the year in the home town. What would be better baseball attraction? Well, they drew just 3342.

"Now, we are on our way North. For the next few weeks, we'll be putting the finishing touches on our tuning up for the National League campaign. I've been disappointed in some of the players I believed were good prospects. Some of them will soon be squawking that they didn't get a chance, when they are cut loose. Well, the reason that they didn't get more of a chance was that I didn't convince me that they wanted to make the club.

OPEN FOR DEALS

"In other words, they got smart, all at a sudden. They had good seasons in the minors, so they were under the impression that they'd made the Bees. We can't cash in on what they did a year ago.

"I'm going to have a ball club composed of hustlers. No manager ever got any place with stallers. Before Bob Quinn left San Antonio, we went over the roster. I told him what players I'd be willing to trade in order to bolster the only two doubtful positions on the club, center field and catching.

"You can believe me when I tell you that Miller, Slati, Rowell, Moore, Ross, Grempe, Erickson, Salvo, Lamanna, Tobin, Javers, Berres and Mac were not on that list. And, there are a few others, who, at the moment, escape my mind. If I get the right trade, I'll unload some of the boys who didn't give me the old college try. It's all right with me if they loaf for some other manager and in return I'll get my type of ball player.

"So, don't be surprised if Bob Quinn comes up with a trade or two and if he does, we'll give those other National League clubs, the old "juice" this year.

'SUDDEN DEATH' HILL PUTS BRUINS IN STANLEY SERIES

open and fed him a perfect pass. Eddie, in turn, moved the plug along to Hollett and "Flash" wound up and belted a 40-footer which Broda had covered in the corner. The puck, though, bounded off Stanowski's shin and careened into the far corner as Broda looked on in disgust. This score came 54 seconds after McDonald's tally.

That ended the scoring until the payoff shot which came late in the third period. The play started harmlessly with Eddie Wiseman carrying in. Kampman drove Eddie into the boards but Wiseman cleared the puck just before he was jammed. The disc slithered aimlessly along for a few feet and came to a stop without anybody picking it up.

TORONTO YANKS GOALIE
Along came Hill and he obligingly took the puck, skated a step and then unwound a blistering shot to the far corner that flew past the surprised Broda, with such speed that the Leafs goalie didn't even make an attempt.

For history's sake, the goal came at 14:17.

Less than six minutes remained--the Leafs faced elimination and they desperately tried to even it up. They went so far as to yank Goalie Broda with 28 seconds to play but they just couldn't turn the trick. It wasn't in the books.

And another playoff game went into the record books. A tilt more than 36,000 fans will always remember, particularly that wild second period.

The action started when Crawford and Langelle struggled for a puck behind the Bruins' cage. Crawford, in trying to lift out, caught Langelle over the eye and split the brow wide open.

Mickey Ion, concentrating on the other end of the ice, didn't see the play and Langelle continued playing with the claret streaming.

THREE STITCHES
On to the ice rushed Smythe with his grey fedora waving. Right at Ion he went, knowing full well that there was an automatic $100 fine for going on the surface. But it made no difference to Smythe. He quickly showed Mickey his mistake and off went Crawford for a five-minute major and away went Langelle for three stitches.

Then the Bruins started to howl but to no avail. Connie had won his point but when Ion came over to throw him off the bench, Smythe really started to screech and threw a punch at Mickey which fell short. Ion called the law and back went Smythe to the second row.

Play resumed and on the faceoff, Hamilton and Jackson started mixing it and out they went off for high sticking to keep Crawford company.

If that wasn't bad enough, two minutes later Taylor lapped Jackson on the head just heavily enough to require three stitches and Taylor took a five minute vacation.

The game was thrown wide open--each team had a three minute advantage of a spare man but neither could capitalize.

When both clubs returned to full strength they settled down to playing hockey and hockey it was right to the finish.

Bring on Detroit!

Barons Plead With Lady Luck

CLEVELAND, April 4 (AP) -- The Cleveland Barons packed a rabbit's foot and all the other charms they could find today before entraining with the Hershey Bears to continue their American League hockey championship playoffs in the Pennsylvania city Saturday night.

Highly favored after making it two straight last night with a 3 to 1 victory, the Ohioans are determined to wind up the three-out-of-five series on Hershey ice. If necessary, the fourth game will be played in Hershey Tuesday and the fifth here next Thursday.

The Barons collected all the good-luck tokens because they haven't won a game on Hershey ice this season, losing three and getting a tie in the fourth.

Sunday Snow Train Put in Moth Balls

The one-day Sunday snow trains have "gone into moth balls" for the summer, it was announced last night by the Boston and Maine railroad after a survey of snow conditions late yesterday had shown insufficient snow left in New Hampshire's hills to handle a "snow train" throng.

With Palm Sunday and Easter in the offing, Passenger Traffic Manager H. F. McCarthy said, "we have decided that the Sunday snow train is through for the season."

McPhail Stymied

GALVESTON, Tex., April 4 (AP) -- President Larry McPhail of the Brooklyn Dodgers says his trip to California was fruitless and that all deals for Billy Herman and other players fell through.

60 SPOKANE PUTS OUT WELCOME MAT TO PUBLIC LINK GOLFERS

SPOKANE, Wash., April 4 (AP)—Hitch-hiking golfers who come to the National Public Links Golf Tournament in Spokane this year—July 14-19—needn't worry about eating.

The Spokane tournament committee is going to provide lunch and dinner daily. Dr. George Williams, chairman of the Spokane tournament committee and representative of the U. S. G. A. in Spokane, made the announcement today and said Spokane would spend nearly $5000 in entertainment and caring for needs of golfers, officials and golf writers who attend Spokane's first national tournament.

"Every year," Dr. Williams explained, "a number of the boys hitch-hike to tournaments. It started way back in '29 when Johnny Goodman practically thumbed his way to Pebble Beach to lift Bobby Jones' national amateur crown."

"Sometimes a score, sometimes less, of the young fellows go to the tournament with barely enough money to get there and for a week on hamburgers."

"But this time, all they'll have to do is to get here and back, and play golf. We'll take care of the eating problem."

The Spokane athletic round table, the Spokane golf clubs and other organizations of the city have lined up behind the padded out program of entertainment and hospitality, with the result that, in addition to a full-fledged dinner every night, the Pub-Link competitors will be treated to trips to Grand Coulee dam when they can get away from the course, and other entertainment.

For the 129 or so who fail to qualify for championship play, the committee is arranging 18 holes of medal play or consolation trophies.

"It'll all cost some money and some time but, when the boys are through, we want them to leave happy and we don't want them hungry. Everybody eats in Spokane," the doctor concluded.

Bonura Picks Minor Berth Over Army

NEW ORLEANS, April 4 (AP)—Zeke Bonura's home town followers, who claim they knew all along the big cabbage-and-banana man would sign with Minneapolis despite his vow he'd join the Army first, are convinced he'll use the Millers as a springboard right back into the big time.

Shunted from one club to another in a seven-year major league career, Zeke apparently was insulted when the Chicago Cubs sold him to the American Ass'n team a month ago.

Bonura declared he wouldn't play with the minors. He talked of volunteering for military service, so he could be out of khaki early in the 1932 season, when he expected to find a number of baseball vacancies caused by Uncle Sam's demands.

SLIPPED FRIENDS
But he finally signed and slipped out of town so quietly some of his best friends didn't know he had gone.

Other American Ass'n. clubs aren't exactly happy over having Zeke in the loop. Manager Bill Killefer of Milwaukee has pointed out that the short right field fence in Minneapolis' Nicollet Park will be pie for Zeke's batting power to right and center.

On the other hand he suggests the right fielder is forced to play in close where he can minimize the fielding flaws at first base that dumped Bonura out of the majors.

Sports Editor Fred Dickey of the New Orleans Item credits President Mike Kelley of Minneapolis with masterful diplomacy by just letting Bonura alone, telling him to get a major berth if he could— but putting a discouraging $10,000 price tag on the big fellow who might be drafted this summer.

NOVA, BAER GO INN. Y. GARDEN

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP) — Two of the fistic bone-yard's best products, Lou Nova and Max Baer, battle it out in Madison Square Garden tonight for a chance to take on Joe Louis for the heavyweight championship in September.

They'll start their 12-rounder about 10 p. m. (E. S. T.) with more than 17,000 persons looking on. Some time within the next hour, the faithful will find out which of the two is going to be all wrapped up with pink ribbons and put back in the files of the "Ho, Hum Dept."

This is expected to be Madcap Maxie, Nova is favored at odds of 5 to 7½ to repeat his victory of 1939, when he stopped the "Great One" in 11 rounds with a cut mouth.

But Max still can pitch like Feller with that right hand, and Nova, who is better than a green hand as a boxer, is just stubborn enough to try to slug it out with the ex-champ of the playboys, thereby leaving himself open to catch one of Max's specials.

To say both of these gladiators came out of the bone-yard is not taking a thing away from the ability of either. Right now they're as good a pair of heavyweights as you'll find.

But Baer was consigned to the ash-heap, special delivery, twice, first when he blew the heavyweight championship to old Jim Braddock and again when he let himself be counted out on one knee in front of Joe Louis' dead pan.

And Nova—well, a year ago you wouldn't have given one well-worn cigar—five-cent variety—for his chances of ever running around the corner, much less fighting again. He was months in a hospital after Tony Galento finished raising lumps on him. But he came back, trained in a western state prison to build himself up again and looks stronger than ever.

62 Seining of Stripers To Stop in Bay State

By DARK MONTREAL

The legislative committee on conservation will probably report out next week with a bill prohibiting the seining of striped bass in Massachusetts waters. This committee is in agreement that the seining of stripers must end and there is no chance that the proposed protective measures will die in committee as they did two years ago.

Best features of each of the three bills filed for the bass protection will probably be incorporated in one measure and a minimum length of 15 or 16 inches, from nose tip to tail fork, will be adequate protection for younger fish that have not spawned.

It is not likely from the present prospect that the bill will prevent the taking of striped bass in the shore waters, or traps, or provide any penalty for fish so taken.

The seine is the great danger to striped bass conservation but if you have any special ideas with regard to maximum limits for sport fishing or entire prohibition of sale, now is the time to contact the committee members by wire or letter.

The committee members are as follows:

Senators Donald A. MacDonald, West Springfield; Newland H. Holmes, Weymouth; Thomas J. Lane, Lawrence; Charles F. Sullivan, Worcester; Representatives Harland Burke, Ipswich, chairman; Lawrence A. Haworth, Dalton; George Ward Stetson, Middleboro, clerk; Joseph A. Sylvia, Oak Bluffs; Earl G. Crockett, Upton; Arthur W. Milne, Pittsfield; Fred A. Blake, Gosdard; Arthur U. Mahan, Leominster; Culin J. Cameron, Amesbury; George T. Walsh, Lowell.

Of course, station protection of striped bass is not altogether satisfactory but it is a means to an end. The federal government should protect the striper just as it protects the wildfowl in their migration from state to state. That protection we will likely have in a few years to come.

As long as we've started on the striped bass subject, we may as well continue with an interesting letter from Captain John Allen, of Marion, whose station on the Wee-wee river invariably produces the first bright striper of the season. Captain John looks for an early striper season. He writes: "Don't know how many fish will come in but I think they will be early as there has been no ice in the water for a long time. I heard of a fish being taken in Connecticut three weeks ago, also one taken in Westport river in a white perch seine, but don't think they mean much as no doubt they were fish that stayed in with the perch all winter."

"I look for the fish we do get to be better size. I am getting ready now and will have bait and boats ready by April 21. Boats and bait will be free to anyone that wants to try the fish. I do this every season until we get the first fish and there is a lot of enthusiasm every season. Give my regards to all the bass fishermen."

"There should be white perch above the bridge (the Marion highway bridge) in about two weeks and good fishing if we can get any shrimp. I don't think the shrimp are out of the mud yet."

SHORT CASTS

Cliff Farrand, the tackle maestro of Brine's, has moved up Summer st. to Hunters to enlarge that department. . . Larry Norwood has replaced him at Brine's. . . Dana Chapman, veteran salmon angler and dean of the salt water tackle men, will be back at Asa Osborn's on High st. before the trout season opening. He has made a great comeback after a severe winter illness. . . Eddie Farrell, tackle expert at Bob Smith's, is getting in some new spinning gear, about which we will have more to say later. . . Elmer Raymond, on Long Pond, Plymouth, reports his boats already for the salmon and trout season, and most of them already engaged for opening day, a week from Tuesday. . . Bill Dupree, who trapped a young army of foxes during the winter, will have his popular bait station in Plymouth open before the season starts.

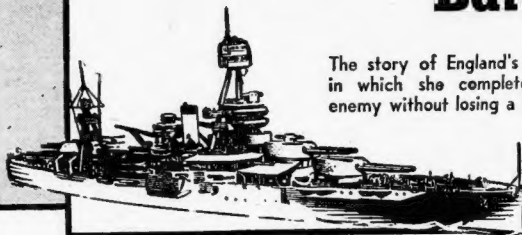

Musto on Edge For Louis Go

ST. LOUIS, April 4 (AP)—Chunky Tony Musto, Chicago heavyweight, was more concerned today about holding his keen fighting edge than about any consequences of his scheduled 15-round title bout with Champion Joe Louis here next Tuesday night.

Already at his best fighting weight of 196 pounds, Musto went seven rounds yesterday against a squad of sparring mates who found him an easy but unyielding target. However, the challenger left no doubt about his splendid condition and his handlers planned to concentrate on increasing his speed.
